Great Areas Are Under Water As Rivers Overflow

Northern Albertans Hope Worst Is Past as Stream Source Levels Begin to Fall; Northwestern Manitoba Farms Under Water

Trains From B.C. Coast Delayed

Edmonton, July 4.—Hope that floods which have ravaged the entire north for many days have reached their peak dawned in the stricken country to-day as slight drops in the source levels of the swollen rivers and creeks were reported.

In the meantime, angry yellow waters continue to sweep through towns, villages and farm lands and northwesterners are maintaining desperate efforts to keep flood damage at the lowest possible figure.

Peace River town to-day resembles a vast lake. The main part of the village of Watino is still safe, but is doomed if the Smoky River rises another three feet. Other settlements are reported under water.

TRAINS REACH VANCOUVER

Passengers Arrive at Coast After Washout Blockades in Hills

Vancouver, July 4.—The British Columbia railway blockade was lifted to-day as the first trains to reach Vancouver since Monday arrived over both Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railway lines.

Both railways had been tied up in the mountains by washouts which occurred Monday following torrential rains.

Three Canadian National Railway passenger trains arrived during the morning and two more, including an excursion special, was due later to-day.

Five Canadian Pacific trains reached the city and two excursion specials were due later.

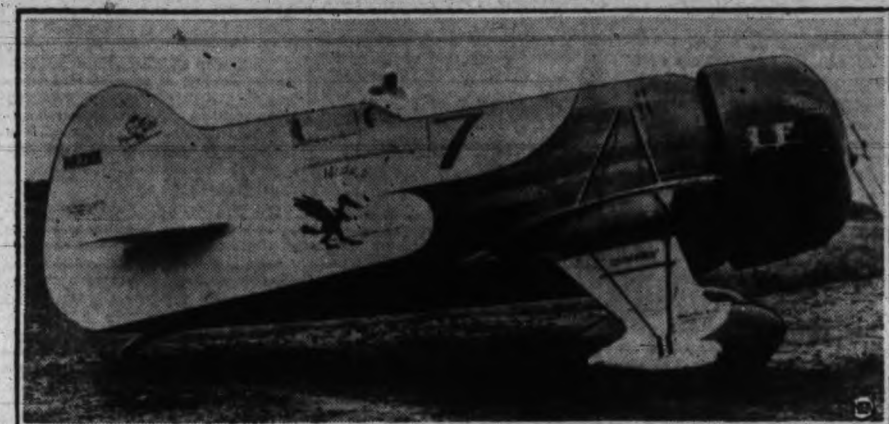

Buildings destroyed

Reports from the interior indicate severe damage was caused by flooding streams. Seven buildings were washed away at Chase and they may have to be dynamited in order to allow flood waters to escape. Rebuilding of the highway bridges at Chase, destroyed when the creek went on the rampage Monday, will occupy a month.

Floods in the Penticton district are estimated to have caused thousands of dollars of damage to buildings, roads and bridges. The water was reported dropping to-day, however, and no further trouble was anticipated.

The water is receding in flooded areas in Kelowna and Salmon Arm and comparatively little damage was done.

TESTED FOR RECORD SPEED ATTEMPT

Above is a glimpse of a monoplane which is expected to be taken up from the Los Angeles airport soon by Cecil A. Allen, left, transpacific flyer, in an attempt to shatter all land plane speed records. The Gee Bee No. 7 as the short blunt-nosed plane is known, has reportedly been flown 321 miles an hour in tests with and against the wind. Allen hopes to achieve 350 miles an hour without attempting to climb into the rarefied atmosphere, and to span the United States in nine hours.

Pacific Engineers Ltd. Submit Low Tender on Industrial Home

Tenders for completing of the existing building at the Boys' Industrial School, Coquitlam, and the construction of a pipeline from Essondale power house to the industrial school were opened at the Parliament Buildings yesterday by Hon. A. Wells Gray, acting Minister of Public Works.

Pacific Engineers Ltd. of Vancouver, with a figure of $30,518, were the low bidders. Five other tenders were submitted as follows: A. Sullivan, $31,000; Ward and Son Ltd., $31,000; Baynes and Horie, $33,400; Smith Bros. and Wilson, $33,718; and Chrysalis and Lakeman, $34,958.85, all mainland firms.

The bids were referred to departmental engineers and the contract will be let shortly.

SCORES LOSE LIVES IN U.S.

Early Reports of July 4 Deaths Are Over Thirty

New York, July 4.—More than thirty persons were listed as dead to-day in preliminary reports of fatalities that occurred during celebration by the United States of the 150th anniversary of its birth.

Automobile accident deaths topped the list in the early reports, with at least nineteen fatalities attributed to that cause alone, indicating that before the arrival of July 5 the number dead in motor car mishaps on the streets and highways might reach or even surpass the 1934 figure of sixty-nine.

Only one death from firearms was reported in the early reports of the day's fatalities.

Washington, July 4.—The United States to-day was a bunting-draped nation of parade watchers, picnickers, motorists, vacationers or simply one-day vacationists, with a share of fireworks as the fillip for "a grand and glorious fourth of July."

The nation's transportation facilities felt the pressure of the traditional urge of many celebrants to "go places and do things."

Many an automobile thoroughfare was packed with lines of cars.

Trains, excursions, boats, buses and planes caught part of the press. In the centre of the greatest population thousands of New Yorkers joined in the biggest travel rush of recent years.

New Jersey's state police sought a solution for its automobile traffic problem in the air, through the use of two planes, one radio-equipped, to survey and control traffic routings.

Beaches caught a tide of pleasure seekers. Golf courses did rushing business, while sports events and traditional patriotic observances drew others who chose not to spend the day at home.

"They Have Perfect Right to Put Case Before Federal Government," Says Provincial Premier of 2,000 Ontarians Preparing to Travel to Dominion Capital; No "Iron Heel" Tactics By Dominion Officials Wanted, He States

Political Rights Stated Respected

Toronto, July 4.—Premier Hepburn to-day said he did not anticipate interfering with the projected march of 2,000 Ontario unemployed to Ottawa this month.

"They have a perfect right to go to Ottawa and put their case before the government," he said.

The Ontario Premier stated Mr. Bennett had decreased unemployment grants to the province, discontinued federal grants for works programmes, and by high tariffs had permitted exploitation of the unemployed.

NO IRON HEEL THERE

"Premier Bennett will get no sympathy from us if he starts his iron heel tactics in the province of Ontario," Mr. Hepburn added. "In our dealings with the unemployed we have been firm but fair and courteous. Mr. Bennett has been firm, unfair and deliberately abusive."

POLICE FIRM BUT FAIR

While making no announcement of special police regulations for the projected unemployed march, Attorney-General A. W. Robb said:

"Our men will take care of whatever appears on the road in the natural course of their duty."

"The province can be assured while provincial police duty is done quietly and moderately, it will be done with courage and determination, so all possible protection will be given persons and property and lawlessness suppressed to the extent of our ability."

The Attorney-General said the government was "going to respect the political rights of all men the way they should be respected in a democratic country."

State Council Votes Otto May Re-enter Country; Family Wealth Restored

Vienna, July 4.—Seventeen years of banishment from Austrian soil for the imperial house of Hapsburg was ended to-day by unanimous vote of the State Council.

The members of the 800-year-old dynasty were declared free to return to the country they once ruled and their former properties were restored to them.

By this action Austria achieved a step toward restoration of the former monarchy. The twenty-two-year-old Archduke Otto, now in Belgium, was regarded to-day as near the goal for which the former Emperor Zita, his mother, has worked since the Hapsburgs were forced to flee the country and the powerful empire was split into diverse nations.

GRAIN BOARD BILL CHANGED

Commons Expected to Be Asked to Approve Minimum Wheat Price

Ottawa, July 4.—A fast passage through the House of Commons of the new grain board bill was in prospect to-day when it was considered for the first time in committee stage. It had been regarded as a possible stumbling block to passage.

Hon. J. L. Ralston, Liberal financial critic, was one of the bill's chief opponents when it was first introduced, but to-day he commended the changes drafted by the special committee that considered it. He referred to the three main amendments—the fixing of a minimum price for wheat; the instructions to the board to keep selling and not piling up a surplus such as accumulated under the policies of John I. McFarland, head of the selling agency of the pools, and the third change, the policy of buying only from farmers and not in the open market.

LIFE OF BOARD

The Liberal financial critic had only one suggestion to offer, limiting the life of the wheat board, especially in view of its establishment as a result of emergency conditions.

Mr. Ralston said the bill was one of the most important considered this (Turn to Page 16, Col. 5)

Cabinet Faces Relief Trouble

Return of Marchers to B.C. Discussed By Provincial Executive

The relief camp strike situation was discussed by the British Columbia cabinet at a special session this morning.

Members of the executive talked over the position the government would take toward the return of the "On-to-Ottawa" trekkers who are reported on their way back to British Columbia.

After the meeting, Hon. John Hart, Acting Premier, and Attorney-General Gordon Sloan went into conference with officials of the Department of National Defence which has charge of relief camps.

It is understood they discussed ways and means of handling the matter.

Mr. Hart indicated he would announce the government's policy tomorrow.

Whether British Columbia will protect the return of the marchers to the province is an open point. It was stated that the time the trek started that 65 per cent of the men were not British Columbian and 85 per cent had only been in camp during the last winter.

Gain In Mines Is Close To Million

In First Half of Year Increase in Value of B.C. Production Is $974,847, Minister Reports

Led by gold and silver, British Columbia mineral production showed an increase in value of $974,847 for the first six months of the year over the corresponding period of 1934, according to official figures released to-day by Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Mines.

Gold turned out in the half-year period was worth $5,054,896, an increase of $814,964 over the first six months of 1934 and $249,543 more than the last six months of 1934.

Value of silver was $2,753,677, a gain of $885,969 over the first half of last year, and of $461,237 over the six months immediately previous.

Against these increases were declines in copper, lead, zinc and coal. In volume the copper and zinc output was greater, but prices were lower.

The average gold price for the six months was $35.06 against $34.67 last year, of silver, $64.03 cents against 45.05 cents; of copper, 7.26 cents against 8.1068 cents; lead, 2.599 cents against 2.5767 cents, and zinc, 2.808 cents against 2.358 cents.

Total value of all minerals produced up to June 30 is placed at $21,672,674, which shows another six-month gain in the upswing which (Turn to Page 2, Col. 4)

C.P.R. Head Tells London News Change in Canada Coming in Three Years

London, July 4.—The London Evening News to-day quoted Sir Edward Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, as saying:

"I believe unification of the two railway systems will take place within the life of the next Canadian government, possibly within two or three years."

"It will come whoever is returned to power. Unification was retarded by the unfortunate speech of my friend, R. B. Bennett, before the last elections. Mr. Bennett is a remarkable man of prodigious memory and a hard worker. He stayed with me at Gaspe during the Jacques Cartier celebrations last summer."

"I said, when seeing him off by train, 'That speech of yours in Winnipeg some years back in which you said, 'Amalgamation never, competition ever,' lost the country millions of dollars.' To which Mr. Bennett replied in his gruff, kindly way, 'That (Turn to Page 2, Col. 5)

Address Voted To Governor

Commons Thanks Earl of Bessborough For Services to Canada

Ottawa, July 4.—An address of respect and appreciation to the Governor-General, the Earl of Bessborough, was passed unanimously by the House of Commons to-day. It expressed regret at his coming retirement and thanks for his services to Canada during his term of office. It was moved by Prime Minister R. B. Bennett and seconded by Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader.

Mr. Bennett said there seemed to be much misunderstanding as to the method of appointing a Governor-General. This involved two steps, one, the decision of the King that the persons designated had his confidence, the other the recommendation of a person for the post by His Majesty's ministers. Until the appointment of the Earl of Bessborough the recommendation had been made by the Prime Minister of Great Britain. It was not made by the Prime Minister of Canada.

ON SHORT NOTICE

Appointment of the Earl of Bessborough in 1931 had presented difficulties because Lord Willingdon, retiring Governor-General, had been summoned to the Viceroy of India before the end of his term. The appointment had to be made in six weeks under the new procedure. Lord Bessborough accepted out of a sense of public duty and on very short notice. He arrived in April. Abyssinian Government Asks U.S. to Persuade Italy to Observe Pledges; British Make Great Efforts to Prevent War

Addis Ababa, July 4.—Ethiopia, it was revealed to-day, has asked the United States to consider some way of persuading Italy to observe its commitments under the Briand-Kellogg Pact.

The appeal was contained in a five-page note handed to William P. George, United States charge d'affaires, which contained a lengthy resume of the Italo-Ethiopian dispute.

By GEORGE HANBLETON, Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, July 4.—Great Britain is making strenuous efforts to stop war between Italy and Ethiopia.

Sir George Russell Clerk, British ambassador to France, who saw Premier Laval yesterday, was to have further conversations to-day. The objective is to secure French co-operation in a peace move, but France is still disturbed over the Anglo-German naval agreement.

British ministers are reported to be unanimous in a decision to uphold the League of Nations, but divided on a resort to sanctions should Italy declare war.

"The existence of the League is at stake," says The London Daily Herald. "If the League stands by, it is dead."

"The League," comments The London Daily Express, "must either abandon Abyssinia to her fate or try to stop Italy by economic or military pressure. Vancouver, July 4.—Twelve men, arrested during the waterfront riot here June 18, were committed by Police Magistrate Mackenzie Matheson to-day to stand trial on charges of engaging in a riot, and Mrs. Emilie Grienshaw was committed on a charge of inciting to riot.

Men Permitted to Leave Police Guarded Area and Go Downtown For Meals While Arrangements For Departure West Made; Evans Release Attempt Last Monday Reported

By SAM G. ROSS, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Regina, July 4.—Striking relief camp workers under guard of Royal Canadian Mounted Police with rifles at the Stadium, plodded downtown in straggling groups for breakfast to-day, while the Saskatchewan government arranged for a special train to carry them to their homes or the relief camps from which they came.

Guards placed at the Stadium grounds following Monday night's rioting were still stationed around the Stadium, but permitted the strikers to do generally as they pleased. Other persons, however, were barred from entering the grounds near the Stadium.

TO RESTAURANTS

The first groups started to leave the Stadium around 10 a.m., to go to various restaurants to eat at the expense of the Saskatchewan government. They previously had been fed in dining halls at the grounds. Within twenty minutes they were walking downtown, dotting the streets, but all orderly. No police accompanied them.

SPECIAL TRAIN

When the special train would leave for the west to take the strikers back to British Columbia, Alberta and points in Saskatchewan was still indefinite. There was no prospect of it leaving to-day, as first expected, but authorities generally expected it (Turn to Page 2, Col. 5)

Longshoremen at Six U.S. Pacific Ports Declare Against Handling Goods Loaded By Non-union Men at B.C. Ports

San Francisco, July 4.—Boycott of ship cargoes loaded by non-union men in British Columbia ports, a move which employers had warned would constitute a "direct violation" of the waterfront anti-strike agreement, was announced by longshoremen in six major Pacific Coast ports of the United States to-day.

San Francisco locals led in the voting with a total of 2,513 ballots announced in favor of the ban and only 497 opposed. One small local, the Stockton, Cal., stereos favor the ban 71 to 2, and Tacoma 257 to 134. Portland, Seattle and Grays Harbor locals also favored it, but did not announce totals.

San Pedro voted against the boycott, 913 to 674, and San Diego refused it without announcing totals.

NO HOLIDAY TO-MORROW

At the same time Coast longshoremen voted down a proposal for a "holiday" anniversary demonstration Friday in memory of the two men killed in San Francisco by police bullets here on "Bloody Thursday" last year.

Survivor Tells of Seine Boat Disaster

J. McKinley Describes Explosions and Destruction By Fire Off Bantry Bay, 40 Miles North of Vancouver; Boy Lost Life With Three Men

Vancouver, July 4.—An inferno at sea and a young boy's unfulfilled faith that someone would save him, ran through the story of James McKinley, twenty, one of three survivors of the salmon seine boat Bantry Bay, which was destroyed by explosion and fire off Wood Bay, forty miles north of here, on Tuesday.

McKinley, in a state of collapse from burns and shock, was able to-day to tell something of the tragedy, but not the exact manner in which four persons were lost.

"The little boy, most lovable kid, said, 'Please Jimmy, I can't swim. Somebody will save me, won't they?'" related McKinley, referring to eleven-year-old Harry Pollard, stepson of the boat's skipper, William Oram.

"I said to him, 'you hang on with us as long as we all can. Then we'll get everything fixed to save everybody.' But I never saw him again, nor the other three. It's terrible."

Lost with Harry Pollard were Carl Peterson, Harry Johnson and Jonas Webb.

TWO IN HOSPITAL

William Oram and James Thom, other survivors of the fifty-foot vessel, are still in hospital at Pender Harbor.

The three lost men were last seen by McKinley as all six men fought a raging gasoline and Diesel oil fed fire. Drums of gasoline and oil converted the boat into a death ship swinging an uncontrolled course as the wheel swung free.

MASS OF FLAMES

"We were making a steady six knots," McKinley said. "Carl Peterson was syphoning gas into the tanks for immediate use when someone shouted 'fire!' It started in the pilot house and swept below. Peterson came out of the pilot house a mass of flames. Captain Oram and I smothered them."

"But the flames roared at us and the boat was flaring below and forward. Thom came scrambling madly through a skylight. He had been in his bunk, but attempted to put out the flames with a fire extinguisher. It was like a spot of rain."

"We all rushed aft. The flames got at the gas drums and heavy oil. I never seemed to see the others and then suddenly I realized only three of us were left on the ship."

"I tore at the seine-corks on the seine-table aft. Captain Oram had been driven overboard by the flames. I ripped off a bunch of the corks and threw them to him. Thom took an armful. I found myself outside in the water trying to clutch the corks. Then I was alone."

Later, after he had managed to take his clothes off and kept gazing at the loose corks, he saw Thom.

The move for assumption of the throne by the youthful "Kaiser Otto I."

Several royalist leaders hastened to Stenackerel Castle in Belgium, where Otto is living with his family.

There was a note of caution, however, in the exultation of the legitimists. Having waited seventeen years for an opportunity to revive the monarchy which fell with Emperor Carl in 1918, they don't wish to fall now.

The deepest concern felt by the sponsors for a restoration was over the reaction abroad to the movement.

B.C. LOOKS FOR NEW B.N.A. ACT

Need of Changes Is Patullo's Subject at Prince Rupert Gathering

Canadian Press

Prince Rupert, B.C., July 4.—Necessity of a revision of the British North America Act as it affects the relations of the provinces with the Dominion was stressed by Premier T. D. Pattullo in a luncheon address here yesterday.

The necessity of such revision was being recognized with unanimity all over Canada, the Premier said, even in Ontario and Quebec, and it was important that the people of this province should realize it.

Tariff adjustment to permit of fairer treatment for British Columbia in relation to the east and a redefinition of sources of revenue and taxation for the Dominion, provinces and municipalities to eliminate overlapping and ease as far as possible the tax on land were also essential Premier Pattullo declared.

CONFERENCE PLAN

The Premier added that some progress already had been made and he was hopeful these problems could be ironed out to the satisfaction of all through conference and co-operation.

Explaining the recently announced $1,500,000 public works programme, the Premier said it was being financed from a "nest egg" which the provincial government had built up from interest and investments.

commenced in 1933. Following are figures for production by half-yearly periods since that time: 1933, first six months, $13,897,994; second six months, $19,719,888; 1934, first six months, $20,697,827; second six months, $21,607,470; 1935, first six months, $21,672,674.

OUTPUT CURTAILED

In listing prospects for the remainder of the year the minister expects an increase of $500,000 in placer gold during the last six months. A $500,000 gain in lode gold is expected. During the first six months approximately $500,000 in lode gold output was lost by the labor trouble in Bridge River and the shutdown at Premier.

Several small silver properties have been brought into production, and, with the increased price, an extra $200,000 is anticipated from this metal.

With copper prices uncertain there are still prospects for the Grassy Consolidated Mining and Smelting plant at Anyox closing down, and if this takes place will mean a loss of $1,400,000 in the value of copper output.

Stiffening of lead prices and prospects of the Mesachie range increasing indicate a probable $500,000 increase in lead for the last six months. Similarly a gain of $300,000 is expected in zinc.

It is anticipated the departmental estimate for the entire mineral production for the year of $44,500,000 will be reached, according to present indications. If Anyox does not close down it will probably attain $48,500,000.

Following is estimated mine production for the six months ended June 30, compared with figures for six months ended June 30, 1934:

	1934	1935
Gold, placer	18,192	20,486
Gold, lode	4,338,925	5,624,888
Silver	1,967,700	1,997,875
Copper	1,162,917	1,480,989
Lead	2,775,250	2,878,628
Zinc	43,000	50,000

"Silver And Peace" Knocking B.C. Out Of Chinese Market

This, on top of Japan's sudden restriction of Canadian exports, virtually means the loss of the entire Oriental market to British Columbia for the present at least—a major commercial disaster, affecting the whole Pacific Coast.

TIMBER ORDERS CEASE

What is wrong? The average industrialist here does not know. He only knows that China has stopped buying. The timber industry knows that it is not selling a foot of lumber in China which only a year ago purchased 100,000,000 feet here in British Columbia and 340,000,000 feet from Oregon and Washington—an exceedingly valuable market, since China took the lower grades that could hardly be sold elsewhere, thus making it possible for British Columbia to compete with its high-grade stuff in other markets.

Behind the collapse of the Chinese market, just as it was purchasing more and more Canadian goods, lie trade factors which a few experts perceived but which seem to have been overlooked entirely by the statement of America when she broke China by raising the price of silver.

Move which was supposed to put China on its feet. And British Columbia, having no control over the monetary policies of the United States government, finds itself helplessly entangled in their disastrous results.

Last fall, when the price of silver in America's Oriental trade held a meeting in Seattle to survey the rising Chinese market. China was booming. Shanghai, port for 200,000,000 people, was the most prosperous city in the world. Ships out of Seattle and Vancouver were crammed with lumber to build homes for the millions of Chinese who had crowded into the prosperous treaty ports. The trade leaders were pleased, but they realized that this business was only a fraction of the business that could be done in a market of 400,000,000 people.

They called for the millionaires of America to supply the market. They called for the millionaires of America to supply the market. They called for the millionaires of America to supply the market.

PASTURES RENEWED

On the brighter side of the flood picture was the lush green verdure over the entire western Manitoba and eastern Saskatchewan, a section ravaged by drought for four years. The once "dried-out" area resembled a sea of muddy water, with fields several inches under water.

GRAIN FIELDS GET MOISTURE

Winnipeg, July 4.—Clearing skies over most of the prairies presaged an end to-day to nearly a week of torrential rains over western Canada's grain belt. Manitoba was the only province where long-hanging clouds brought moisture to-day.

And even there a measure of relief from the rains that approached cloud-burst intensity at some points this week was promised. Mostly cloudy with probably scattered showers, was the bill of fare for Manitoba.

Warm, clear weather was reported over Alberta and Saskatchewan, where ditches and sloughs were filled with water after a week's deluge of rain. All grain has been provided with plenty of moisture. The change in weather was just what the crops required at this time.

Scattered thunderstorms visited several Manitoba points during the

STATEMENT BY EMPEROR

Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, July 4.—Emperor Haile Selassie said to-day in a statement to the Associated Press, Ethiopia does not want war with Italy, but that in the event of such a conflict, "we shall accomplish our duty."

The "King of Kings" failed to indicate he had received any serious news, although unofficial reports said heavy losses were sustained on both sides in a battle between Italian and Ethiopian forces on the Eritrean frontier. Details and confirmation of the reported battle could not be obtained.

"Ethiopians never had desired war, nor do we now, because war destroys progress," the Emperor's statement said.

"The present conflict, for which Italy used as a pretext the Ualul incident (a border clash last year in which thirty Italians and 110 Ethiopians were reported to have been killed), is in no wise chargeable to Ethiopia, because it is established by diplomatic documents that since August last Italy has been considerably arming her colonies of Eritrea and Somaliland, necessitating a declaration by the Ethiopian charge d'affaires in Rome denying Ethiopian intentions of aggression, which pre-text Italy used to justify her increased armaments."

"In spite of our firm resolution to avoid war, we shall accomplish our duty in the eventuality of war."

"Joking apart, as soon as the new cabinet is in power the whole thing will be settled. The huge financial advantage will surprise even me."

Sir Edward told the Canadian Press The Evening News as quoted was accurate, but he stressed the fact he had alluded to unification coming probably in two or three years and not immediately after the elections.

Ottawa, July 4.—Much amused at the reported interview with Sir Edward Beatty in The London Evening News, Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, when shown a cable containing the story, commented that the Canadian Pacific Railway head was not with him at the Gaspé celebrations last summer. He also doubted Sir Edward had been correctly reported.

WAR GOOD FOR BUSINESS

"In the first place," he said, "civil war was good for our trade with China. It drove millions out of the interior of China into the safe treaty ports. There houses had to be built for them. In Shanghai 750,000 people were added to the population in three years. One contractor alone built 200 huge wooden tenement houses, out of lumber from British Columbia and Washington. Now there has been peace for some years. The people have gone back to the interior. They do not need lumber. They build houses of mud. The treaty ports like Shanghai are overbuilt for the present population. More houses are needed."

"But the biggest factor is silver prices. If it were not so serious, it would be riotously funny to observe

 Church Buildings

Associated Press
 London, July 4.—The Bishop of London, Rt. Rev. A. P. Winnington Ingram, issued an order yesterday forbidding any church building in his diocese to be used for seances and warned people against the "peril" of getting in touch with spirits through spiritualism.
 Writing in his diocesan leaflet, he urged them to give up "this unauthorized attempt to communicate with the other world" and described their efforts as "very dangerous, dishonoring to the dead and waste of time for the living."

But It Is Not Because of Fear of Rioting

Canadian Press
 Calgary, July 4.—Denial is made by civic authorities that special precautionary measures are being taken in Calgary because of a fear of radical disturbances.
 Police were administered a new oath Tuesday and special officers, including members of the Legion of Frontiersmen, sworn in.
 It was explained by Mayor A. Davidson, chairman of the police commissioners yesterday that this was necessary to bring the force under the jurisdiction of the board of police commissioners to conform to a recent by-law. Formerly, before the establishment of the board, police were under the jurisdiction of the city council.
 Each year a number of frontiersmen are sworn in to assist the police during Stampede Week, the mayor explained. There was nothing unusual in this procedure, he added.

McDonald in Supreme Court yesterday adjourned an application for an injunction to restrain the City of Vancouver from proceeding with the creation and issue of its $1,500,000 "baby bond" issue, which was designed to provide for building of a new city hall and other works.
 His Lordship told counsel for G. H. L. Smith, who seeks the injunction, that he was not disposed to grant it without notice to the city.
 The city will be represented by J. W. deB. Farris, K.C., when the case comes up again Friday.

 "As long as exports go on, it is eminently desirable British firms should export and British labor be employed."

 Committee

Canadian Press
 Ottawa, July 4.—The new "racket" of signing books or sheets and contributing amounts in anticipation of getting higher returns if additional persons sign, is declared an offence against the Criminal Code under an amendment adopted yesterday evening by the Senate banking and commerce committee. Any operator of such a scheme may be fined up to a maximum of $500 under the amendment.

FROM OTTAWA

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, government leader in the Senate, moved the amendment and it was quickly adopted unanimously. The suggestion for the provision was made in a communication to the Senate leader from Crown Attorney J. A. Ritchie of Ottawa.

The "racket" broke out in Ottawa within the last ten days and the operators extended branch offices to Hull and Aylmer on the Quebec side of the Ottawa River. Several of these offices, though were closed yesterday with only a small percentage of the "investors" cashing in.

Hope To Export More To Poland

Canada's New Trade Treaty Is Before Commons

Canadian Press
 Ottawa, July 4.—After long negotiations, the commercial convention with Poland, forecast in the Speech from the Throne when Parliament assembled, was completed and signed yesterday. It was laid on the table of the House of Commons by Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, who gave notice he would introduce a bill ratifying it.

The agreement gives mutually most favored nation treatment to the products of both countries, plus special tariff rates on selected groups of commodities.

Under previous conditions Canada and Poland traded with each other on the highest custom rates. Canada bought $154,309 worth of merchandise from Poland in the year ended March 31 last, while Poland bought from Canada goods to the value of $499,667.

Sardines, certain species of herring and salmon, canned lobsters, processed leather, fox furs, wool pulp and ice skates are the commodities on which Canada will get a special low rate in the Poland tariff schedule.

FROM POLAND

Polish exports to get a special preference in Canada include canned hams, picture films, books and pamphlets in the Polish and Ukrainian languages, crystal and cut glass, alabaster work, house and office furniture, raw hides and skins, traveling luggage and some chemicals.

Most favored nation treatment to be accorded Poland by Canada means that Canada extends to Polish products the lowest regular tariff granted to any other foreign country, and does not include the British preferential rates.

Poland's concessions to Canada shall not extend to privileges granted purely border traffic within an area not exceeding thirty kilometres from its custom border, nor to privileges granted by virtue of a customs union, to any customs facilities granted Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania or Finland, nor to duties and quotas established between Polish Upper Silesia and German Upper Silesia by virtue of the German-Polish convention of May 15, 1922.

Measures Voted By The Senate

Ottawa, July 4.—Speeding up for prorogation, the Senate yesterday sent four governing measures through third reading and gave second reading to a fifth, which it sent to committee. Maintaining a like rapidity, the banking and commerce committee functioned in full swing every available moment of the day.

Bills which went through final reading were legislation to set up a $10,000,000 scheme to assist in construction of houses; amending the Companies Act; transferring administration of the Combines Investigation Act from the Minister of Labor to the proposed Dominion Trade and Industry Commission; and amending the Root and Vegetables Act with the Fruit and Honey Act, while implementing recommendations of the Price Spreads Commission report by extension of the experimental inspection service began in 1934 to all canning plants.

The measures were approved in amended form, and the Commons will be asked to concur in numerous changes.

COMPANIES' ACT

Of the twenty-nine amendments made to the Companies' Act, Senator Meighen told the chamber several were designed to strengthen its provisions, while in another instance an important change has been made to keep within the ambit of Dominion legislative jurisdiction. In the time available since the measure reached the Upper House, every effort had been made to improve it, he stated.

RETIREMENTS ARE DEBATED

Liberals Warn Bennett Not to Change Diplomatic Appointees Before Election

Canadian Press
 Ottawa, July 4.—If a prime minister is not physically able to discharge his duties, he should retire. This was the assertion of Prime Minister R. B. Bennett in the House of Commons yesterday.

It was during a discussion which developed on a vote of $5,000 in the supplementary estimates to provide a retiring allowance for Hon. Philippe Roy, Canadian Minister to France. The item was subsequently withdrawn after leaders on both sides had discussed the question of ministers in Canada's diplomatic service, and their retirement.

It developed Mr. Roy had no intention of asking for retirement.

"There is an implied undertaking on the part of those who occupy positions such as these that they are physically fit to discharge their duties," Mr. Bennett said in the course of his remarks. "I realize it, for instance, with respect to the office which I hold. I think it must be perfectly clear that a prime minister, whoever he is, must be physically able to discharge his duties. If he is not, he should retire. I think the same thing is true with respect to the judiciary and others."

FERGUSON'S POSITION

Mr. Bennett said he had no doubt Canada's High Commissioner to Great Britain, Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, would retire in the event of a change in government.

WARNING GIVEN

While the proposed retiring allowance was being discussed both Liberal Leader Mackenzie King and Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Liberal, Quebec East, served notice any new minister appointed would be discharged should the Liberals come into office. Mr. Lapointe said a new appointee would be well advised to buy a return ticket.

RETIREMENT AGE

Premier Bennett said he had always acted on the principle that ministers to foreign countries should not be changed with a change of government although the High Commissioner in London was in a different position. He said some rule as to the retirement age of ministers should be adopted in order to avoid misunderstandings in the future. The British diplomatic service had a retirement age of sixty, which he thought reasonable although the age of sixty-five, the standard in the Canadian civil service, might be more appropriate. Dr. Roy was now sixty-seven, but as he did not wish to retire and as there was no rule he would remain at his post.

Canadian Press
 Ottawa, July 4.—The mass buying commission cost the Dominion treasury about $475,000. Hon. R. B. Hanson, Minister of Trade and Commerce, told the House of Commons yesterday, but he believed "a very large sum of money" had been turned into the Finance Department from tax dodgers brought to light during the inquiry.

The minister said he was not sure of the tax collections because they did not come under his department. He had been informed, however, they were substantial.

William Golding, Liberal, South Huron, Ont., protested against Norman Somerville of Toronto, commission counsel, being paid a daily fee of $150 and $15 expenses a day. He said Mr. Somerville was paid for 196 days although the commission only sat 124. The remaining seventy-two days had been occupied with Mr. Somerville "schooling and prompting witnesses," consulting auditors and investigators, although "my own opinion," he said "is those witnesses should have come without any interference whatever."

The South Huron member said one witness from the west was on the stand only a few minutes one day although his bill was $149.50. An ordinary three-cent stamp represented the value of his evidence. Another witness cost over $150 to suggest farmers be stopped from selling produce on their farms and urging rail-grading for bogs.

The government had no control over fees, Mr. Hanson said. The commission paid its own accounts.

It is estimated that a beech tree consumes about eighty quarts of water daily.

The cost of living, which reached its peak in 1920, has declined; but on the 1913 basis it is still much higher than the price of gasoline. In 1934 the cost of living was 20.7 per cent. higher, but the price of gasoline was 28.4 per cent. lower than in 1913. The data for this graph are based on figures published by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

LIVING COSTS MORE BUT GASOLINE COSTS LESS

THE cost of living in Canada in 1934 was approximately 21 per cent. higher and the price of gasoline 28 per cent. lower than in 1913. The price of gasoline never rose to as high a peak as did the cost of living. Since 1920 gasoline prices have declined almost continuously to the present low level.

Imperial Oil has always sought for economical ways of doing business and has always passed on to the consumer the benefits of such economies. Imperial Oil operates on a very small profit and in 1934 earned an average of slightly more than one-half of one cent per gallon on gasoline.

Not only is gasoline cheaper than ever—it is better than ever. Imperial Oil research laboratories played a leading part in developing fuels for modern motors. Imperial gasoline of 1935 is a far better gasoline than that of 1913 yet it sells at a price considerably lower.

OUR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

IN MANY RESPECTS THE CHAMBER OF Commerce is the most important organization in the city, apart, of course, from our governmental institutions. It is the body from which Dominion and provincial governments invariably seek advice on matters of a non-partisan nature affecting the community. It is the agency through which business and other interests in many instances get into touch with governments and whose influence is sought in the solution of numerous diversified problems. It is constantly engaged itself with matters of trade, business, development, communications and transportation, and has led many fights for the protection of Victoria's welfare.

Not infrequently the assistance of the Chamber of Commerce is sought by individuals and interests who give it no support in membership or any other way, and that assistance is generously given. But all this involves the maintenance and operation of an organization which must be paid for, and the Chamber of Commerce does not happen to conduct a mint, nor has it access to any hidden source of unlimited wealth. Its main revenue consists of membership fees and when these decline the activities of the organization must be correspondingly restricted. Its present financial situation is unsatisfactory and it is entitled to expect those who benefit from its operations directly or indirectly to support it.

We can conceive of no worse advertisement for Victoria than the dissolution of a body which has been in existence for more than half a century, for we would be the only community larger than a village, perhaps on the continent, which did not have an establishment of this kind. Virtually every other town on Vancouver Island, from Sidney to Courtenay, has one and it is receiving substantial support.

The Board of Trade of Vancouver, the Chambers of Commerce of Seattle, Tacoma, Portland, Bellingham and other neighboring places, are regarded by their citizens as being among their most valued assets, and are supported by large memberships, sustaining funds and contributions of other kinds. If the Victoria Chamber of Commerce could rely upon only a relatively small proportion of the funds which from time to time are raised by campaigns here of a non-philanthropic character for projects, some of which are almost fantastically futile of substantial results, it could operate without serious handicap.

CANADA AND POLAND

CANADA AND POLAND HAVE EN-tered into a commercial convention which guarantees this country the lowest tariff rates on all Canadian products exported to the northern European country. The agreement was signed at Ottawa yesterday by Premier Bennett and Dr. Jerzy Adamkiewicz, Consul-General for Poland in Canada.

Under the terms of the agreement—which will have to be ratified by a special bill—in addition to concessions on a select group of products, Canada will give Poland intermediate tariff rates on all commodities produced in that country. The Polish tariff schedule will now be so adjusted as to give Canada a reduction of tariff duty on such items as herrings, spiced or prepared, salmon, lobsters, fox skins, chemical wood pulp, and other natural products.

Concessions to Polish products entering Canada cover a wide range—from canned hams to horse hair, curled or dyed—not forgetting zinc dust and sheets. Then again, the government, in its wisdom, has agreed to let into this country cinematograph or movie picture films, positives, made in Poland and speaking the Polish or Ukrainian language, intermediate less 50 per cent.

Now, this is all very interesting, for anything that will bring Canada more business and help give her idle army work is all to the good, and we shall hope that the new convention will do what its sponsors naturally hope it will do. The reason we suggest this is because it was not until the April "Summary of the Trade of Canada," issued by the authority of Hon. R. B. Hanson, Minister of Trade and Commerce, that the business with "Poland and Danzig" was considered even worthy of mention in the departmental monthly document.

Our trade with Poland and Danzig for the twelve months ending last April was worth just a little more than $600,000. There are about 32,000,000 people in Poland, thirteen millions less than in Britain, and almost three times as many as in Canada.

At least the new convention ought to give Poland and Danzig a higher place in the trade returns of Canada than it occupied, for the first time, in April.

JIM AND DUGGIE

THE ANNUAL DOMINION DAY banquet in London, England, this year seems to have been a very jovial affair. As one Canadian commentator implies, it was a case of the supposedly "high and mighty" and the one who "rose from the ranks" performing as "back-chair" comedians.

The Lord Chief Justice of England, Lord Hewart, who, by the way, is an honorary member of the Canadian Bar Association, began it by observing that the only member of the cabinet who had a pet name was Jim Thomas, "equally at home with prince and peasant, bishop and billiard marker," then he went on to wonder why no one spoke of Stan, Baldwin, Nev. Chamberlain, Jackie Simon, Tony Eden, or of Lord Hailsham as Duggie Hogg, while guests roared with laughter. Later the Chief Justice got on his dignity again, assuming his polished legal manner, making learned vivid quotations from speeches of Pericles in ancient Athens and showed how they applied to the British Empire to-day. This was too much for J. H. Thomas, His Majesty's Secretary of State for the Dominions, "I observe the difference between the Lord Chief Justice sitting on the bench and making some poor prisoner in the dock tremble," he said, "but to-night—whatever may be the cause at some future date, I can say to him: 'Gordon, you go to blazes. Gordon may be all right as a judge, but he is a blank poor after-dinner speaker'."

Next Mr. Thomas took a fling at Lord Hewart's "airy assumptions" that everyone present knew Athenian history and asked amid shouts of laughter, "who the blank is 'Pericles' anyway?"

A climax to the hilarious interlude came when Howard Ferguson announced a new link between Canada and the Motherland—Jim Thomas's tenth grandchild—had been born in the Dominion at 9.25 that morning.

We have quoted from the dispatch of Mr. A. C. Cummings, special correspondent of the Southern Newspapers in Europe, who happily noted the birth of "Jim" Thomas's tenth grandchild in Canada. "Jim," as he is affectionately called by those who still admire his fine sterling qualities—apart from those who "read him out" of the Labor Party—is still dropping his aitches, but is going about his business as Secretary of State for the Dominions with an understanding of the evolutionary processes of democratic and responsive government.

ITALY AND ETHIOPIA

A SEVERE CONFLICT IN WHICH heavy losses were suffered by Italian and Ethiopian forces is reported from Addis Ababa, capital of Abyssinia, but the report lacks confirmation, and the ruler of the African state, makes no mention of it in a statement issued by him yesterday. It is abundantly clear, however, that Mussolini intends to go ahead with his martial adventure in spite of all that Great Britain and France have been able to do to deter him. Apparently the pressure of adverse economic conditions within Italy has reached a point where he considers it imperative for the security of his own position to grab the rich Ethiopian territory for the dual purpose of creating a diversion of Italian attention and recouping the impaired finances of Italy.

It is axiomatic that when dictatorships find their foundations beginning to crumble they recklessly risk all on some foreign adventure, and it also is an elementary historical fact that if that adventure be conducted too far away from home and involves heavy losses in life and money, the dictatorship collapses in bloody revolution. Abyssinia may well be Mussolini's Moscow.

Meanwhile the Italian press, which is operated by Mussolini's nephew, is full of blood-curdling attacks upon Great Britain for her efforts to prevent the conflict, and a council of Italian admirals has been called probably as a cocky gesture to Britain to keep out of it. Since Great Britain is a member of the League of Nations, like Italy and Abyssinia, since she also is the chief African power with a color problem on her hands, and since she owns the Suez Canal through which Italy must transport her troops and supplies, she is quite within her right in endeavoring to keep the Italian firebrand within bounds. Incidentally, the sequel may cause Italy to regret that she did not accept Britain's advice.

A FORTIETH ANNIVERSARY COMES

John Lodge was the city editor and I was the office boy. Just at the time when a baseball game was a youngster's sweetest joy.
 He was a man and I was a kid, who nervous and nervy came
 To his great desk up in the local room and asked for a pass to the game.
 "And who are you?" said the editor. "And of baseball what do you know?"
 And why do you ask for a pass to-day and why should I let you go?"
 I stammered replies as best I could and I wished I had stayed down stairs.
 For I didn't know men at the city desk are sometimes as cross as bears.
 My heart went down as he shouted: "No! I haven't a pass for you."
 (Then a twinkle came in his kindly eye.) "But I tell you what I'll do:
 You be ready at half-past two, since the game begins at three,
 And I'll stop for you as I'm starting out and take you along with me."

I think he knew when he called for me 'twas the first big game I'd seen.
 But I don't believe that he ever guessed how much that day would mean.
 I don't believe that he ever dreamed that the sound of those boos and cheers
 Of that afternoon would still ring to-day in that grateful youngster's ears.
 But this is the wish that I write to-day—that every boy could know
 A friendship like that which began for me—just forty years ago.

THREE FRAGMENTS

It may be I shall not return
 In any year that follows this;
 To greet the coastal plain I love;
 But ever on my lips will burn
 Glad memories of the sea-wind's kiss,
 And through my dreams white gulls will rove!

A peacock strutting past a garden wall
 That lifts his strident cry
 And preens his feathers while the shadows fall
 And hours go drifting by
 Is but a symbol of unmeasured pride,
 With self-enamoured, wholly satisfied.

It is not well to know the whole
 Of what is passing in a soul,
 Nor is it wise to seek and find
 All things that fill another's mind;
 In silent, shadowed depths of thought
 Let shining fish remain uncaught!

A THOUGHT

But if ye have bitter envying and strife in your hearts, glory not, and be not against the truth.—James III 14.
 Pools may our scorn, not envy raise, for envy is a kind of praise.—Gay.

Loose Ends

Basic English turns out to be basic but adequate—one adds up peace declarations and gets war.—The Sun is optimistic—and the public still gapes at a name.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

BASIC

BASIC ENGLISH apparently is to be the latest scourge of a lost civilization. This language, consisting of 850 words, is guaranteed to fulfill all reasonable human needs and is designed to become the means of international communication in the future. With 850 words, they say, you can tell anybody all you know. Probably, indeed, it is a generous estimate for most of us. I sometimes feel, on a morning like this, that 100 would be ample for my purposes.

Anyway, they have been researching on this grave subject and they find a number of valuable facts. They find that where there are 400,000 English words, "the British teashop waitress uses about 7,000." Why the vocabulary of a British teashop waitress is more significant than the vocabulary of any other waitress, I am not quite sure, but evidently the teashop waitresses of England use considerably more words than the waitresses in the average lunch counter over in these parts. The local variety hardly requires even the 850 words of Basic English for the ordinary purposes of its business. So long as they can say "okay," "hello, dearie," and "thank you," they can do their job quite competently. What a teashop waitress or any of us who lack the learning, could do with 7,000 different words, I cannot imagine. It seems a wicked waste.

That the estimate of 7,000 words for the ordinary person is exaggerated seems to be proved by the latest exploit of Basic English. With the 850 words of that language, they have written a whole novel in England and no one suspected that it was different from any other novel. They say now the movies will adopt Basic English so that, when the language spreads all over the world, all races will understand the products of Hollywood. On the whole, 850 would be a generous allowance for most movies in which all the meaning is conveyed by half a dozen words like "Yeah, nope, and I love you."

The fact is that we are using less and less words all the time because we understand one another better and better. When we become as intelligent as dogs or horses we won't need words at all. We will convey our ideas without them. For the moment, 850 words should be more than ample for the ideas available. If we used words only to convey ideas, indeed, most of us could do very well on half a dozen. If you can say, "When do we eat?" and "Get over on your own side of the road," and "Five gallons, please," and "I'll take mine neat," you can enjoy most of the advantages of our machine age and get along very well.

HIGHER MATHEMATICS

THE CHRISTIAN Science Monitor, of Boston, has been going over the recent utterances of the world's statesmen and adds the following together:

"No country, no empire, has a greater desire for peace, has worked harder and is working harder for peace than our country and our empire."—Stanley Baldwin.

"This government, like the French people, is profoundly attached to peace."—Former Premier Pierre-Etienne Flandin.

"What could I wish but peace and quiet."—Adolf Hitler.

"The greatest need of the world today is the assurance of permanent peace."—Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Adding these together, what do you get? You get a world bill for armaments.

IN THREE MONTHS

IN THREE MONTHS, as soon as the federal election is over and Mr. King has been installed in office, says The Vancouver Sun, Canada's troubles will be over. This is a cheering thought. But it is rather hard on Mr. King. The expectations of the public are rather hard on any new government. Surely Mr. King should be given a week or so to get settled in his office, to familiarize himself with the furniture, the telephone and the buzzers before he finishes solving all our problems and ending the depression. It is true that Mr. McGeer has said under oath that he could break the depression in twenty-four hours, but he is a young man compared with Mr. King.

On the whole, one would imagine that a country in a mess such as Canada is in will need quite a while to pull out of it, whoever is elected. Mr. King's chief problem will probably be to satisfy over-enthusiastic friends like The Sun, who expect him to perform miracles that so far have been beyond the capacity of any statesman in the world's history. He is the same fellow who will be saying a year from now that the King government is a failure if we are not in the middle of a wild boom.

Anyway, there seems to be no political need to announce that Mr. King will end our troubles the day after election, because his election is now taken for granted. The question is not whether Mr. King is going to be elected, but what he is going to do afterwards. Getting elected in these hard times is easy enough now a days anywhere, if you're in opposition. What puzzles me is why anybody wants to.

GREAT MAN

THE TOWN—or rather, I suppose we must call it the metropolis since the metropolis is the highest rank to Douglas Street—was all agog, so the young fry assure me, over the recent visit of that great American, Mr. Douglas Fairbanks. It is a touching commentary on the faithfulness of the public that Mr. Fairbanks can cause the faintest ripple of interest anywhere. It shows you that fame is not written in water, as we have been told. It shows you that the public can be true to an idol even if its feet are of quicksand.

Here is a man who never could act as well as most of the amateur actors of Victoria, who could only grin and jump over walls and climb chimneys, who mistook acrobatics for art. Here is an inferior fellow who made his reputation before the movies grew up, when the public didn't know any better. Here is a notable husband who created a beautiful legend of the perfect American marriage with America's Sweetheart and then left her and the beautiful legend flat. Here is altogether the kind of product that only our civilization of machines and shadows and bologna could possibly create.

But so great is the public's heart, so weak its mind, that Mr. Fairbanks is still a world figure, still excites people by his sudden and unnecessary arrivals and departures in the remote places of the world. This shows you how the momentum of a reputation will keep you going in such a world as ours years and years after you have ceased to do or be anything of importance. The name, not the man, is what we worship. The name goes thundering on and on year after year after the man has ceased to do anything but get married and divorced.

EVOLUTION

To the Editor:—From careful computations it has been established that the present population of the world, being about 2,000 million, must have had its origin, or rather its fresh start, about 4,300 years ago, in the days of Noah. Had the human race been in existence for only about 100,000 years (Turn to Page 16, Col. 2)

"Frankly, we're disappointed, Jackson. We expected you to have the entire middle west talking about our campaign by now."

Winds Abating; Summer Ahead

Area of Low Pressure in the Interior Responsible For Chilly Weather

According to F. Napier Denison, superintendent of the Meteorological Observatory, the chill, drying winds which have been blowing over Victoria and vicinity during the last ten days are dying down and real summer weather will again favor Victoria.

"The trouble," said Mr. Denison, "was due to the fact that the interior of the province had been experiencing hot weather due to a low barometer, while Victoria had a fairly high barometer."

The result of this has been the formation of an area of low pressure over the interior, resulting in winds from the Pacific blowing towards the coast. These winds, blowing over the ocean, are naturally cold and usually rain-bearing, said Mr. Denison.

Victoria receives the full force of these winds as they sweep in. Mr. Denison said the barometer along the coast was gradually falling to equal that of the interior. A day or two at the most should eliminate the low pressure area of the interior and free Victoria of the uncomfortable coldness.

The northwest had the driest growing season on record during 1931.

PRICE CONTROL SEEN AS NEED

The real solution to agricultural troubles of the province lies in provincially framed legislation regulating prices and profit spreads. Hon. Dr. K. C. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture, declared at a Liberal rally in Dewdney last week.

The minister said the farmers of the Fraser Valley had benefited during the last three months to the extent of $120,000 from the Marketing Act, but he did not think this fully covered the situation. Something had to be done to regulate and control shipments of farm produce from the prairie provinces where the cost of production was much less than in British Columbia.

THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES

(From The Times Files)

Victoria is the yachtsmen's mecca. There are upwards of 1,000 yachtsmen in the Capital City and all are delighted with the smiling manner of their reception by Weather Clerk Baynes Reid, whose factory has been working overtime to turn out beautiful sunny weather and what is more appreciated by the yachtsmen, a perfect yachting breeze. The actual commencement of the carnival takes place this afternoon.

Reno, Nev., July 4.—After fifteen rounds of the most cruel and fast fighting ever inflicted on a white heavyweight boxer, Jack Johnson today conclusively proved his right to the title of the heavyweight champion of the world. The fight was one-sided all the way, Johnson showing his superiority throughout. He was in danger only once during the battle, and that was when Jeff landed two solid smashes to the stomach. Johnson jabbed Jeff on the face and body almost at will, and soon had the big fellow badly beaten, his left eye being closed, the left cheek being cut and his lips split and swollen.

The J.B.A.A. junior rowing four, which consists of Carris, Sommers, Chunggranes and Kerr, will not go to Vancouver to-morrow, to enter the North West Pacific Amateur Canoeists' regatta, for, yesterday while taking a training spin up the Gorge they rammed a log boom, which battered the shell up so badly it is beyond repair. The boys escaped with a ducking.

W. Marchant has arrived home from a visit to Montreal and Ottawa.

Some large catches of fish have been made within the last few days. Between 5,000 and 6,000 Sockeye were taken in Todd's traps and sent to the cannery on the Fraser River. The Spring salmon in large quantities are being mild cured in the local canneries.

Langford, July 4.—The monthly meeting of the W.A. to the Prince Edward Branch No. 91, Canadian Legion, will be held at the home of Mrs. E. R. Johnson, Metchoin, next Monday, at 2:30 o'clock. Details for a "Raspberry Festival" on July 31, will be arranged.

POLICE ACTION IN REGINA PROTESTED

A resolution of protest against the action of police in Regina during recent trouble there and a request for their immediate removal from that city will be forwarded to Premier R. B. Bennett as the result of action taken at a protest meeting in Central Park yesterday evening.

George Drayton, Vancouver, and Frank Lucas, representing the Canadian Labor Defence League, spoke at the meeting attended by about 300. L. Tanning was chairman.

Speakers declared single unemployed men in the relief camps wanted wages for their work and wished military discipline removed.

SCENES IN FORBIDDEN PLATEAU

Forbidden Plateau Is New Mountain Playground of West

Fresh Worlds For Tourists and Hikers to Conquer

Hidden away in the little explored hinterland of Vancouver Island is a natural playground where sheer beauty of scenery and grandeur of cliff, lake and valley spread for miles in unbroken perfection. Walled in by a mountain ridge 5,000 feet high and shut off from mankind by Indian taboos, the Forbidden Plateau in the centre of Vancouver Island has remained secret and inviolate until within the last twelve years. The witch doctor of the Puntledge and Comox tribes told his subjects that the centre of the island was full of bad spirits, of great hairy men, who sprang out to kill. To add color to this there was another legend of a party of Indian warriors who, on a foraging trip, dared the wrath of the hairy men in an endeavor to oust their enemies. They crossed into the Forbidden Plateau country and were never seen by mortal eyes again. With such tales afloat, early explorers and trappers found it impossible to get guides to go back into the interior with them. Even to-day, in the 100 square miles of the Forbidden Plateau, not one man lives or has ever made his home.

This natural sanctuary is a paradise for anyone who loves nature unadorned. High above the level of the sea, the air is invigorating, crystal clear and wine sweet with the scent of heather and other mountain flowers. Mountain air—mountain scenery—a summer tonic that will give renewed strength to all.

In the Plateau country there is something for everyone. There are lakes—literally hundreds of them—bordered by heather, red and white, and gnarled cedars and cypresses. Hundreds of gardens in a great park, where there is no undergrowth to trip the foot or spoil the view. Lake Beautiful, where a perfect series of waterfalls join an upper and lower body of water. Most Lake, cradled high on the side of the mountain—in the centre of it is an island and on the island a miniature lake; Emerald Lake, a glorious emerald green, so still and deep; Circle Lake, so blue it almost looks to be a bit of lost sky tucked in the fold of a hill. These and many others are waiting to be explored. Other lakes there are still unnamed, so rugged and so new is this great mountain playground. Some lakes appear overnight and are gone just as quickly—such is the nature of the soil. Much water flows underground, and so many beautiful peat swamps are there. The rivers are not large—small quick-moving streams where rapid and lacy falls follow in quick succession. Mountain peaks stand up like sentinels, some snow clad, others cloaked in heavy green. For those who will climb, the view from the very top of the peaks cannot be surpassed. It is said by those who know—"climb any spot in the Plateau and look to the great Pacific Ocean."

THE WAY IN
The Forbidden Plateau is reached from Courtenay by a choice of two ways. The Dove Creek trail is perhaps the better known, for it was the trail used by the mountain men of the early days when they first trekked into the plateau, and has been in use consistently ever since. Eight miles from Courtenay by car and one reaches Dove Creek; then on foot or by saddle horse, up and over a well-beaten trail, bordered by tall pines, their jagged fingers pointing straight away up to the blue. The trail winds its way for twelve miles into the heart of the mountains and ends at Lake Croteau, 5,200 feet above the sea. Croteau Camp is situated at Lake

Croteau, and no happier spot for a mountain camp could one hope to be found. Behind the lake rises Mount Elma; farther away over the tops of the trees, the snow capped peaks of Castle, Regan and Albert Edward can clearly be discerned. Around the edge of the lake grow wild flowers of many colors, and the water is so still and deep, its many changing reflections defy description. Monsieur Eugene Croteau, the owner and genial proprietor of the camp, is a veteran of the trail in British Columbia. He has established his camp on Croteau Lake particularly because it is within easy reach of the many points of interest to be attained. His love of the plateau country, his complete knowledge of the trails and the needs of the trail finders, his courteous attention to everyone, make Camp Croteau the friendly camp it is. Sleeping accommodation is provided under canvas in convenient proximity to the main camp, yet with adequate privacy for each party. Wholesome, well-cooked meals are ready and waiting for the hungry mountain climber at almost any time of day. Once visited, Camp Croteau, in the very centre of the plateau country, will be remembered with delight for many a day.

Within the last two years a new and yet a very old trail has been opened into the plateau. It is called the Bevan trail, and it is over the way that the early trappers and explorers first went in, beyond the mountains. More recently it has been a logging road. Now, through arduous work, it has been rebuilt into a good motor road. The last nine miles is maintained by private funds, so a small fee is charged for maintenance purposes. The grade is excellent, and the view obtained over the whole length of the road is most enjoyable. And when you have travelled this fourteen miles up the mountain side you will find the Forbidden Plateau Lodge at the southern entrance to the Forbidden Plateau.

MOUNT BEECHER
The Forbidden Plateau Lodge has been located on Mount Beecher by Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Wood, who have been interested in the development of

The Comox Valley Peaceful and Serene

The peaceful valley of the Comox, the kindly green of its rolling fields, the serene beauty of its surrounding waters and the bits of inlets that dot its far horizon, call to the fabled and tired to spend a peaceful holiday in the quiet serenity of a friendly valley where everything moves calmly under the smiling beauty of sunny summer skies.

The Comox Peninsula is a long neck of rolling valley land where the green of well cultivated farms and fields vary with the darker hues of oaks and firs. The view from the Peninsula, across Union Bay and back to the main body of Vancouver Island, is superb. Snow-capped mountain peaks behind the city of Courtenay stand out in varying array, while farther away the tall spire of Mount Arrowsmith can clearly be seen. Down the sound, islands and inlets, in varying shapes and sizes greet the eye, while far beyond the giant mountains of the mainland catch and hold the light of the summer sun.

ELK HOTEL

The Elk Hotel at Comox needs no introduction to those who travel up and down the island. Situated as it is on the very edge of the shore, nestled deep in the shade of great swaying maples and with its wide verandas looking out over the water and away to the snow-capped peaks, it is an ideal stopping place for a day, a week or longer vacation. There is a friendly atmosphere about the comfortable lounge, a grace and dignity about all its appointments that please the most fastidious and makes the Elk Hotel a name to be remembered for a return visit. Drawing as it does from the surrounding district for its dairy products and many of its table needs, the cuisine has become justly famous. Well-cooked and carefully served, the perfection of its meals are no small part of the charm of the Elk Hotel.

The Comox Valley offers entertainment and sport for all. There is fishing of every sort, boating, tennis, swimming and an excellent golf course. Only three miles from Courtenay, it is at the very doorway of that great mountain playground, the Forbidden Plateau.

If, then, you wish for a holiday where everything is perfect—the climate, the surroundings, the sport and the hotel—go to Comox.

The Forbidden Plateau from its beginning. Now, they have built this lodge with a view to making the tour of the plateau much less arduous. It is situated at the top of the highest road on Vancouver Island, and here those who do not wish to go further into the plateau may enjoy the benefits of the invigorating mountain air coupled with the magnificent view to be obtained from the lodge. Comfortable, well-furnished rooms are available there, as well as cabin accommodation.

Starting at the lodge, the trail leads directly through the magnificent scenery of the plateau to Mountwood Lake Camp, connected with the lodge by a trail. A trained nurse, will be in charge at this camp. Here Mr. Wood has made an effort to preserve the natural primitive atmosphere, and as at the lodge, the comfort of the guests will be the first consideration.

Whether it be this, the old and tried Dove Creek trail, or the newer road to Mount Beecher, the vacationist is assured of kindly consideration and good advice.

Two Young Men Take Six Hours on Dangerous Trip,
With Two Portages

Hot, tired, thirsty? Cheer up; a dash of Eno's "Fruit Salt" in a glass of water makes a drink that really quenches thirst, cools you off, pepes you up.

Eno in a glass of water reduces its temperature 2 degrees.

But Eno's "Fruit Salt" is more than a refreshing drink. It brings health. Eno sweetens the stomach because it is alkaline—neutralizes acids in foods you eat. Eno clears the intestines of poisonous waste, wards off constipation—a constant menace to health.

Take Eno morning, noon, or night—it's always delightful as a beverage and you can add to your drinking water just as little or as much Eno as the need calls for. Action is gentle. Eno is pure—safe. Handy size 30c. Household size 85c.

Bella Coola, B.C., July 4.—Selmer Gordon and Clifford Kops, young men of this district, have completed what is believed the second descent of the Bella Coola river by rowboat. They made the perilous trip from Stule Lodge, forty miles up the valley, to tidewater in little more than six hours.

With the river at high level, the pair were carried over many of the log jams which span the river near its upper reaches, but two portages were

TITLED WOMAN DOCTOR HERE

Lady Sarah Winstedt of Malaya Passes Through on Way to London

Lady Sarah Winstedt, wife of Sir Richard Winstedt, adviser to the Sultan of Johore in Malaya, offers the modern version of the "Lady with the Lamp."

She is a fully qualified surgeon whose work with the Colonial Medical Service in British Malaya has won royal recognition.

Yet she is not satisfied, she said when she arrived from the Far East with Sir Richard on the Empress of Canada yesterday, and plans to take up research work in radium treatment in London, now that Sir Richard has retired and is returning to England to live.

In the 1,000-bed hospital maintained and staffed by the Colonial Medical Service in Singapore are several Malay and Chinese women—fully qualified medical practitioners—who owe their start to Lady Winstedt's personal inspiration.

Thanks to the splendid medical organization in Malaya, that part of the world is rapidly freeing itself from the curse of malaria, Lady Winstedt said, by using elcin, a serum which is proving effective in both cure and prevention of that dread disease of the tropics.

The result has been that the Malayan peninsula now is free from the scourge than India or any other country exposed to it.

Necessary where twisted trunks barred progress.

Several treacherous rapids gave them difficulty and constant bailing was necessary. In Sinclair Rapids, half a mile long, the boat was carried into a whirlpool from which it was impossible to pull out for several minutes.

Some years ago, two men were drowned in the upper stretch of rapids just below the entry of Burnt Bridge Creek.

Women's Economic and Political Status Shaky

Say Speakers at Business
Clubs' Convention in Calgary; Discrimination Against Women in Jobs Alleged

Canadian Press
Calgary, July 4.—Ability should be the only measuring rod in filling a position, Miss S. S. Shannon of St. Catharines, Ont., told delegates at the fifth annual convention of the Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs here yesterday during discussion on "The Economic Outlook for Women."

"We must concern ourselves, not with yesterday's rights, but with tomorrow's possibilities," Miss Shannon declared in challenging delegates to "wake up to the threats against women's status" in the business world.

"Only by intelligent, active interest and use of the franchise can we prevent reversion to a worse position than that held by women before her emancipation."

Sex, marriage and nationality were extraneous considerations in filling a position, she said. "In no office does a man work as hard as a woman in the same position, yet the woman is the object of unfair discrimination in many cases."

NEW FIELD OPENING

New fields for women were opening rapidly and research revealed the number of women in managerial positions had doubled in recent years, Miss Shannon asserted. Women investors controlling large portions of the nation's wealth and spending close to 90 per cent of its money were demanding women as financial advisors in banks and investment houses.

Reports on finance, membership, international relations and national programme planning and from provincial vice-presidents were heard. Mayor Andrew Davidson formally welcomed delegates at a civic reception.

INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS

With all the seeming international misunderstanding of to-day—the high tariff walls, armament races and others—one cannot but feel that international federations such as our own have a part to play in helping toward a more sympathetic understanding between nations. Miss Margaret Wherry of Montreal, stated in a report from the committee on international affairs.

Such problems as unemployment, equal pay for equal work and a dozen other questions will require the best brains of every nation if a solution is to be reached and we all need to be more internationally minded, Miss Wherry said.

POLITICAL PROBLEM

"We feel that the future of women in political life depends largely on the support given them by their own sex," Miss Della Jones, Alberta vice-president, said in her address yesterday.

Secretary-treasurer Miss Mary Ethel Thomson of Winnipeg, reported a substantial increase in finances. In 1930 there had been twelve clubs in the federation and to-day it had a membership of nearly 2,000. The secretary was optimistic regarding future increases in its membership.

In her report the secretary said the federation had protested discrimination against women in business and had sought to achieve a new equality for working women.

CHURCH FETE WAS POPULAR

Delightful Affair at McTavish
Home Yesterday Aids St.
Saviour's

Brilliant sunshine imparted the final touch of perfection to the very successful garden fete held yesterday afternoon in the attractive grounds at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. McTavish, 733 Lamson Street, in aid of the funds of St. Saviour's Church, Victoria West.

Mrs. J. Hebdon Gillespie performed the opening ceremony, being introduced by the rector, Rev. E. M. Willis. She was presented with a charming bouquet by little Audrey Manson.

In the evening dancing on the lawn to the strains of a three-piece orchestra brought the enjoyable affair to a close. Old-time and modern numbers were danced by the light of the illuminations arranged by Mr. J. T. Eastick, who was in charge of the decorations for the affair, all the stalls being gay with flags and bunting.

During the afternoon the Boys' Athletic Club, under the direction of Mr. Peter Stewart, gave a splendid display of acrobatics on the lawn. Mrs. Youson was kept busy by reading tea-cups and palmistry.

House-houses was a popular feature in charge of Mr. G. Gues and Mr. E. Hooper, and the boys had charge of a pitching contest, which proved a favorite. The cord of wood was won by Mr. F. Tait and the doll was awarded to Rev. Canon Stocken.

Candy was sold by the girls of the W.A. and ice cream and soft drinks were in charge of Mrs. J. T. Eastick. The miscellaneous stall was superintended by Mr. Cody-Johnson, and vegetables and flowers were sold by Mr. F. Tait.

Home cooking was managed by Mrs. T. A. Evans and Mrs. H. Shaw, and the fancywork by Mrs. Cody-Johnson and Mrs. H. Beevy. Mrs. A. Loft and Mrs. Bursay supervised the parcel post.

Afternoon tea was served from prettily arranged tables, under the direction of Mrs. H. Gard, Mrs. E. Henry and Mrs. B. Temple. Mr. Tait was in charge of the transportation.

FLAY BIRTH CONTROL TALK

U.S. Catholic Convention Says Propaganda "An Insult to Virtuous Women"

Associated Press
Seattle, July 4.—The anti-birth control resolution, unanimously adopted by the Catholic Daughters of America National convention, to-day termed pro-birth control efforts of the National Federation of Women's Clubs and the American Association of University Women "a direct insult to the rank and file of the decent and virtuous women of America."

The resolution denouncing "the so-called elite and intellectual artificial birth control propagandists," read:

"Accepting the prevalent definition of birth control as the use of artificial contraceptive devices to frustrate the natural law of generation, and as distant from the exercise of self-control and abstinence in accord with the principles of Christian morality in the domain of Christian marriage:

"And in view of the recent pronouncements of such groups as the National Federation of Women's Clubs and the American Association of University Women, calling for legal permission to disseminate information as to means of procuring and use of artificial contraceptive devices, the Catholic Daughters of America, in national convention, denounce in no uncertain terms, the pronouncements of the National Federation of Women's Clubs at Detroit and the American Association of University Women in Los Angeles, as a direct insult to the rank and file of the decent and virtuous women of America."

"The pronouncements are likewise branded as immoral and conducive to the spread of impurity within and without the family unit of society; as un-American and unpatriotic; as aiming at the depopulation of America, and preparing the way for a childless America to become the prey of populous and prolific nations of the east;

"And, finally, as unsocial and inhuman, inasmuch as the attack of the artificial birth control propagandists is aimed primarily at the poor and underprivileged classes, the victims of the unjust and greedy plutocratic domination of the economic order."

"Cut off the heads of the poor and the unemployed, rather than feed the hungry and clothe the naked and shelter the homeless," is the underlying philosophy of neo-paganism, and to the unmasking of the secret sponsors of this neo-paganism, no other than the hordes of the twentieth century, the so-called elite and intellectual artificial birth control propagandists."

"The Catholic Daughters of America pledge the minds and hearts of the 200,000 American Catholic Women who are listed in its membership to combat this serious menace to the nation."

Actress Dies In A Charity Ward

Associated Press
New York, July 4.—Renée Boucicault, former actress, died in Bellevue Hospital yesterday of bronchial pneumonia. She was thirty-six and the daughter of the late Aubrey Boucicault, Broadway stage favorite. The late Dion Boucicault, Irish actor and playwright, was her grandfather.

Miss Boucicault died penniless, although she said in an interview last Monday she had seen two fortunes aggregating $270,000 swept away in "bad investments."

Formerly known as the "Golden Princess of Broadway," the actress was forced to go to a city-supported charity ward in Bellevue, June 18.

DIED YESTERDAY

Vancouver, July 4. (Canadian Press)—Mrs. A. A. Robertson, seventy-three, widow of the late George Robertson, former sheriff of Vancouver, died yesterday.

A native of New Brunswick, Mrs. Robertson had resided in Vancouver for the last twenty-five years.

Two daughters survive.

PICNIC ENJOYED BY NET PLAYERS

A feature of the intercity tennis matches between the Victoria and Vancouver C.P.R. tennis clubs for the Empire Trophy, was the Dominion Day picnic staged by the local club on the Brentwood grounds of Miss Grace Sluggert. With the serious problems of tennis behind them, the members of both clubs enjoyed a field day at the peninsular resort.

Sports, including softball and novelty races, occupied the time of the marksmen during the course of the day. Victoria won the men's softball game 8 to 6, but only after their opponents had held them even for eight innings. The break in the game occurred in the ninth inning, when Herb Rea dropped a real Texas Leaguer over the infield. Considering the number of fielders both teams were carrying, the hit was more of a matter of good luck than good hitting.

Neither team was able to come to a decision in the women's game as both teams decided to call it a day with the score at five all. Mrs. Margaret McConnell pitched good ball for the locals, and was given fair support by her teammates, who more than once lost the ball in the grass.

"Dude" Woods, on the mound for the visitors, also turned in a good mound performance, despite numerous errors on the part of other members of the team.

One of the most amusing features of the day was the water polo vault, which was won by Peter Van Snellenberg Jr. of Vancouver.

Reg. Wood handled the sports very successfully. Before returning to the city, a vote of thanks was tendered to Miss Grace Sluggert for the use of her home and grounds.

Prospect Lake Junior Women's Auxiliary of St. Michael's Church, entertained on Monday at the home of Mrs. A. Parker, Prospect Lake, for Miss Barbara Oldfield, who will leave shortly for Vancouver to enter in training as a nurse in the children's hospital. Miss Oldfield was presented with a leather nurse's case.

Mrs. Horace Oldfield has returned home after visiting her parents at Sooke.

Mr. and Mrs. George Corry, have taken up their residence at Prospect Lake. Mr. Corry has been appointed caretaker of Neal's Rifle Range.

BIRD WITHOUT WINGS OR FEET

DUTCH voyagers returning from the South Seas have brought back tales of a beautifully plumed bird that had no wings nor feet, that hovered in the air by its ample plumage and rested only at long intervals by hanging from lofty limbs by its wire-like tailfeathers.

Only since 1760 was the first perfect specimen of this strange bird seen, but by then it had earned its name as the Bird of Paradise. The male became the prey of the natives, for its tails of delicate golden orange feathers became in great demand as plumage throughout the world. The United States and Canada have forbidden the importation and sale of such feathers.

This bird is illustrated on the stamp of Papua, shown here, and on stamps of New Guinea. On the Papua stamp, the bird is shown surrounded by the tuft of a wild boar.

NIGHT SCHOOL PLAN OUTLINED

Night school classes may be conducted in Spanish next fall, it was intimated at the Spanish School Board yesterday evening, when W. R. Jones, R.M.D., a high school teacher, was given permission to prepare a prospective syllabus.

Whether or not the plan will be introduced will be determined later in the year when a survey of the enrolment will be made among all eligible students. Mr. Jones proposes to conduct the classes in the municipal high schools.

NEW FIRST AID GROUP FORMED

St. John Ambulance Brigade Set Up By Certificate Holders Here

Organization of a St. John Ambulance brigade for Victoria was effected yesterday evening at a special meeting in the Chamber of Commerce hall as local leaders in first aid and nursing work came together to establish the branch in this city.

G. H. Stevens, chairman of the British Columbia Council of the association, presided over the meeting at which a committee was appointed to work out a plan of activity for the winter months.

Assisting in that work will be George Clare, formerly of the city police department; Wallace Allison, first aid leader of the Canadian Spot-tish unit which won the Mackenzie Cup this year at Nanaimo and the Mary Otter Trophy for British Columbia; Miss G. Maynard, acting secretary of the new branch, and Mrs. Campbell, a former member of the Glasgow St. John Ambulance Association.

A. J. Dallan, secretary of the British Columbia Council of the association, and H. W. Edmondson, a member, also attended the meeting.

OBJECTIVES EXPLAINED

Mr. Stevens explained the objectives of the brigade, to afford holders of first aid certificates the opportunity of meeting together for ambulance and nursing practice, combining individual efforts for the public good, to render first aid to the sick and injured on public occasions with the sanction of the police, and to maintain in readiness a body of trained men and women qualified to act in an emergency and to promote every means of rendering aid to the sick and injured.

J. G. Atwood, A. Lumley, T. Guest and R. Heale all spoke in favor of the formation of the new group.

Plans were also discussed for the formation of a nursing section, several prominent local people indicating their desire to co-operate in that branch of activities.

DIFFERENT BODIES

The difference between the existing first aid group here, which was chiefly of an instructional nature, and the new body, which combined certificate holders for practical purposes and further study, was explained. Each will be run separately, although both will co-operate in moves for general good.

Support of kindred organizations, such as the Red Cross, was vouchsafed during the meeting which concluded with the taking of registrations from those present.

C.P.R. Tennis Club Defeats Vancouver

In the first of this season's matches for the Empire Trophy, racquet wielders of the C.P.R. Victoria Tennis Club won a hard-fought contest, 7 to 6, over the C.P.R. Vancouver Tennis Club in an inter-city competition played here over the holiday weekend. The return match will be played in Vancouver later in the summer.

Bob Sheret, recently crowned singles champion of the local club, won a bitterly-contested three set match with Harry Hayes, 9-7, 4-6, 9-7. Fel-calm gave Vancouver an even break in the men's singles, as he stroked his way to a 6-4, 4-3, 6-3 decision over Nixon.

Victoria Ball Club In Sparkling Win Over House of David

THE SPORTS MIRROR

CLEVER British Columbia stick-handlers and the astuteness of those who direct boxa activities this province have again the Lilly Trophy, emblematic of international lacrosse supremacy, for Canada from the United States.

Monday night the British Columbia all-stars turned back the visiting squad of eastern United States college men for the third successive time in the three out of five series.

Three years ago in the sun-blistered Olympic Stadium Johns Hopkins University had run the confident Canadians into the ground to capture the award.

Beside the national bitterness of defeat, the United States team members will in all probability carry a grudge back home with them. In Victoria on Saturday the boys enjoyed a swim at the Crystal Ground and aired some of their grievances. Good sports and gentlemen all, they made light of their troubles, but nevertheless expressed some little dissatisfaction with the proposition which had been put to them in Vancouver.

According to at least half a dozen of them, the United States team came to the Pacific Coast believing they were going to play field lacrosse. They were somewhat dumbfounded when they learned they were to play boxa, at night, on a hard surface floor with rebound boards and artificial lights.

They found the rules different. In the field game the homes stay exclusively in the half of the field in which their opponents goal is located. Consequently they knew nothing about the defense when they stepped onto the abbreviated court. They wore the soles of their feet into blisters on the hard surface and were thoroughly amazed by the trick bounces the flooring produced.

In swimming trunks they displayed bruises and cuts, but said little about them. The British Columbia boys probably packed as many.

They lost three straight games. But in view of the fact the series marked their first introduction to boxa and they were playing against experienced men, they made a very creditable showing.

"Tiny" Johnson, 260 pound moose goalkeeper, had a wholesome respect for British Columbia's stick-handling and shooting ability. According to his story, he could not see after the third quarter of any game, but managed to turn away a lot of shots.

They may be wrong, but they do not think the colleges from which they came will take up box lacrosse. The field game is a major sport in their respective institutions and draws bigger crowds than baseball. They seem satisfied with the sport as it was prior to its demise here.

They were disappointed over the first two games of the series but their grouses were only moderate. It was Canada's turn this time. Next time, if the series is played in the United States, the stars and strikers hope to run the Canadians off their feet, again in the outdoor game. Quite emphatically they declared they could have trounced the British Columbians easily had they been playing the field game.

Eddie Collins, now manager of the Boston Red Sox in the American Baseball League, when interviewed recently declared that the Chicago White Sox of 1919 was the finest combination with which he ever performed, more formidable than the celebrated Philadelphia Athletics of 1910-11-12-13.

"The most remarkable thing about the White Sox was their ability to win while torn by dissension," declared Collins. "The success of the old Athletics was based on harmony and unity under Connie Mack. But the old White Sox were divided into the hit and run play, etc. Yet the old White Sox roared along even after the one clique became involved in its lamentable world series transgression.

"How would you like to have some of those old White Sox players with the hit and run play, etc.?" asked someone. "How much does a duck like water?" shot back Collins with a winking smile in his eye.

Friend Pitches Brilliantly To Allow Four Hits

Gets Airtight Support From Teammates in 4 to 1 Victory Over Touring Club

HAINES MAKES GREAT CATCHES

Victoria's baseball club came through to its second smashing upset victory of the season yesterday evening at the Athletic Park when it took the classy House of David team from Benton Harbor, Michigan, into camp, 4 to 1. The local nine played bang-up ball behind the masterful hurling of Carl Friend, Tacoma, to whip the Davidians in nine innings of high-caliber ball. The Victoria club opened the season by setting back the touring Japanese.

The game attracted nearly 1,400 fans, who enjoyed every minute of the performance. The crowd was the largest to turn out for a diamond exhibition in several years and they certainly left the park in high spirits. Majority of the spectators had expected the bewhiskered boys to make a walkaway of things and they were more than jubilant over the showing of the Victoria squad. At the finish of the game the Victoria players and fans swarmed around Friend to extend their congratulations.

GREAT PITCHING

Friend, a real poker-face on the mound, worked beautifully for the nine innings to hold the Davidians to four hits. He never allowed more than one hit in an inning and issued no free passes to field. Friend struck out five, and wound up the final inning by striking out the last man to finish a great evening's performance. The Davidians did not get a run in nine innings. Friend's lone counter in the fifth inning coming after an error by Gibbons, Victoria second baseman. It was the only miscue chalked up against the local players.

Weirman, a husky southpaw, worked eight innings for the Davidians. He was touched for eleven hits and walked one. He struck out a pair. The ninth inning saw Grover Cleveland Alexander, veteran hurler, and former major league star, go into the box for the House of David. "Old Alex," as he was known to thousands of baseball followers in the days when he was up in big time, allowed no runs and no hits in the one inning.

Alexander was introduced to the fans before the start of the game and they gave the old fellow a big hand. He seemed to get quite a kick out of joking with the fans and was passing wisecracks with them all evening.

THREE EARNED RUNS

Of the four runs scored by Victoria, three were earned and the fourth came as the result of an error by the left fielder of the Davidians. That was one of two bobbles marked up against the visitors.

An idea of the fast brand of ball turned in by the two teams can be secured from the fact that the nine innings were run off in an hour and twenty-one minutes.

In the first two innings both teams worked fast and the sides were retired without any danger. Victoria managed to get a man to third base in the last of the third. Gibbons singled, was sacrificed to second by Gandy, went to third on an infield out but died there when Haines grounded out.

The local club threatened again in the fourth. Friend opened with a sharp single through the box. Bridge-wood followed with a clean hit to right field, sending Friend to third. Hilton hit to Williams at second and Friend was run down between home and third. When the Victoria pitcher was called out Umpire Harry Downs took a terrific ranting from the fans, who figured he had slid safely into third. The next two men went out in order.

House of David got their only run in the fifth. Hill was safe when Gibbons let his ground ball go through his legs. He stole second and scored on Weirman's sharp base knock through shortstop.

LOCALS TAKE LEAD Victoria came back to take the lead in the sixth with a pair of runs. After Friend had filed out, Bridgwood grounded to Williams. Hilton and Restall came through with successive singles to left field. Gibbons stepped to the plate and smacked a double into left field, scoring Hilton and Restall, and Gibbons went to third when the out-water? shot back Collins with a winking smile in his eye.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

—By John Hix

An open window without a screen—a lively stable near at hand—the wearing of silk stockings and knee breeches by men—the heat of a mid-summer day in the old Philadelphia State House—

Upon such things as these the signing of the American Declaration of Independence depended in 1776. Strange as it seems, the signing of the declaration was greatly hastened, if not actually brought about, by the fact that horseflies annoyed signers so much that they stopped their endless arguing over the declaration and signed it.

When the delegates gathered to consider the declaration that Thomas Jefferson had written, first thing they did was start to pick it to pieces. They objected to one thing and another in the wording, almost each man with his own ideas of how the declaration should be written in its final form. One delegate, Benjamin Harrison, went so far as to say that the only one thing he liked about the manuscript was the word "Congress."

Goldstream May Run Again This Sunday

Crack Victoria Horse Possible Contender For $1,000 Governor Martin Handicap at Longacres Track; Speedy Ted Clark to Run on Washington Track

(Special to The Times) Seattle, Wash., July 4.—Goldstream, crack four-year-old son of Sidney which races in the colors of A. E. Smith, may be sent into the mile of the Governor Martin Handicap, featured $1,000 added money stake on next Sunday's programme at Longacres.

Goldstream was a driving winner through the muddy going last Sunday to take top money in the King County Handicap and it was intimated to-day that Smith may move his crack sprinter into the longer route as a test for the $10,000 Longacres mile, August 24.

Goldstream is just one of many thoroughbreds stabled at Longacres which have been pointed for the $10,000 stake. Campello, the Greenfield Farm's runner, Mrs. Vera Bragg's Marcella, the Geesee Stable's Risky Miss and Black Forest are a few of the others.

The above named thoroughbreds are expected to accept weights from Racing Secretary Webb A. Everett for the Governor Martin Handicap, TED CLARK TO RUN

More competition for the western horses is coming out of the east, it became known to-day, with the announcement that C. N. Mooney of San Antonio, Texas, who has been racing at Detroit, is sending Ted Clark, a stunning son of Chatterbox, to Longacres for a crack at the Longacres mile. Ted Clark will be long remembered as the little horse which stepped like a bullet in the $10,000 Santa Anita Handicap and made the pace for that huge field for one mile and a sixteenth of the mile and a quarter route.

The Mooney horse has won almost $25,000 in purses since November and should he train well here, will probably share favoritism in the pre-race speculation with George Giannini's Sea Cliff.

LOUIS FIGHT IS SETTLED

Negro Heavyweight Will Battle King Levinsky at Chicago August 7

Chicago, July 4.—Stunt, solemn Joe Louis, having blasted the man mountain from Italy, is "going bombing for the big Kingfish."

The sensational Detroit negro youth, who, in twelve months, clambered from nowhere to a ranking contender for the world heavyweight championship, yesterday evening was matched for a ten-round battle with King Levinsky, Chicago's ex-his peddler, at Comiskey Park, home of the White Sox, on the night of August 7.

Both Louis and Levinsky, scowling at each other, were present at a meeting. Also present were Promoter Joe Foley, Mike Jacobs, head of the Twentieth Century Sporting Club of New York, which has an option on Louis' services, and "Leaping Lena" Levy, the Kingfish's sister, garbed in a subdued blue outfit.

The ball park will be arranged for 68,000 seating capacity, with a possible gate of $150,000. Ringside tickets will sell for $10, with others down to $2.40.

Fachina Captures Third Race at Lansdowne to Return $100.45 For $2

Vancouver, July 4.—Fachina, six-year-old mare from the Shepard Stable, provided the first big surprise of the Lansdowne Park racing season yesterday when she nosed out Mar Pal and First General in one of the closest finishes at the park for years and paid off at the rate of $100.45 for a straight win ticket.

Mrs. Helen Wills Moody and Helen Jacobs In Wimbledon Final

Two Keen Rivals Will Battle For Tennis Honors

Defeat Joan Hartigan and Hilda Sperling in All-England Championships

U.S. DOUBLES TEAMS ADVANCE

Wimbledon, Eng., July 4.—For the third time since 1929, Helen Jacobs and Mrs. Helen Wills Moody today battled their way into the final round of the all-England tennis championships.

Mrs. Jacobs played some of the finest tennis of her career to eliminate the 3 to 1 favorite, Hilda Krahnwinkler Sperling, Germany, 6-3, 6-0, while Mrs. Moody, six-times winner of the Wimbledon crown, swept aside Joan Hartigan, top-ranking Australian, 6-3, 6-2. The final will be played Saturday.

Mrs. Moody, playing in her first major tournament since a back injury forced her to default to Miss Jacobs in the third set of the United States championship finals of 1933, thus gained the Wimbledon final round for the seventh time in her career. She was beaten for the title by Kitty McKane, Great Britain, in 1924, then defeated Sonja Henz, de Alvaraz, Spain, in 1927 and 1928; Miss Jacobs in 1929 and 1932; Elizabeth Ryan in 1930 and Dorothy Round in 1933.

NEVER WON TITLE

Mrs. Jacobs never has won the title but has reached the final round three times previously. In addition to her defeats by Mrs. Moody in 1929 and 1932, the current United States champion was beaten by Miss Round in the championship round here last season.

Jack Crawford and Adrian Quist, the Australian pair seeded second in doubles, reached the semi-finals by scoring an easy 6-2, 6-4, 6-4 victory over Marcel Bernard and Christian Bousset, France.

Two American combinations reached the semi-final round of men's doubles. Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn, the Texas-New Jersey team which probably will play Davis Cup doubles, easily eliminated Walter Musgrove and Max Bertram, South Africa, 6-1, 10-8, 6-0, while the young Californians, Gene Mako and Donald

Hack Wilson Has Made No Decision

Martinsburg, W. Va., July 4.—Husky Hack Wilson, home run king of the majors in 1929, said yesterday he is undecided about joining up with Portland in the Pacific Coast League.

The veteran outfielder was optioned to the western club last week by Albany of the International League.

Budge put out Sidney Wood, New York, and his Spanish partner, Enrique Maier, 6-3, 6-4, 7-9, 3-6, 6-3.

Miss Jacobs and Frau Sperling divided the first four games, alternating with service breaks. Both were playing safe from the baseline. On one exchange the ball crossed the net thirty-one times before Miss Jacobs won the point with a placement.

Mrs. Jacobs broke through the German star again in the eighth game to take a 5-3 lead and then held her own service in a long, deuced struggle to win the opening set, 6-3.

The American champion fed Frau Sperling a steady diet of soft stuff to win the first set. The German girl had yielded since the fourth round of the Wimbledon tournament of last year.

GERMAN GIRL FLUSTERED

Mrs. Jacobs quickly ran up a 3-0 lead in the second set, breaking Frau Sperling's service twice with the use of only three points. The American's famed chop strokes, completely flustered the German girl, who was hitting very wildly.

Mrs. Jacobs won the last two games without the loss of a point for a smashing victory at love. Only one game in the set went to deuce.

Miss Hartigan gained a 3-1 lead in the first set of her match with Mrs. Moody. Mrs. Moody drove raggedly at times while Miss Hartigan's backhand was steady as a rock under pressure.

Mrs. Hartigan had gained the early advantage by breaking through Mrs. Moody's service in the deuced third game, but the twenty-nine-year-old Californian came back to crash the Australian's backhand and break her service in the sixth game, pulling up to 3-3. Mrs. Moody held her own delivery at love to lead 4-3 and win the set 6-3.

In the last two games of the set, Mrs. Moody won every decisive point with piercing shots to Miss Hartigan's deep backhand.

Mrs. Moody was playing with all her

LIFTED THEIR SILVER LEGITIMATELY

Above is the Victoria police team, headed by Joe Addison, which cut a wide swath through the field when the local track and field boys journeyed to Vancouver for the annual meet of the Terminal City force. Addison romped home in every event in which he participated, beating out Jack Harrison, Vancouver's flying cop, to win the 100, 220, 440 and 880-yard runs, the broad jump and the police in uniform race, to win aggregate honors. The majority of the trophies in the picture above are his. old power and skill. Breaking through Mrs. Moody's service in the second game with three clean placements, Miss Hartigan jumped into a 3-0 lead in the second set. Mrs. Moody speeded up her service and drew even at 3-3. Driving with great strength and accuracy, Mrs. Moody raced through the final three games for set and match.

In the ninth game, Miss Hartigan twice was at game point but each time she was a victim of Mrs. Moody's high-speed velocity placements.

BENEFIT DANCE FOR RAY KERSEY

Fleming smashed a liner through second for three bases, scoring Haines. Friend grounded to Boese at first, scoring Fleming with the final run of the game.

TWO BEAUTIFUL CATCHES

The ninth inning was featured by a pair of sensational catches on the part of Haines in right field for Victoria. Boese laced a terrific drive clear to the right field fence, but Haines tore after the ball, pulled it down with one hand and held on, although he rolled over and over after making the spear. Goellers, the next batter, put another drive practically in the same spot and Haines once more pulled off a lovely catch. The fans gave him a great hand. Friend then brought the game to a close by striking out Anderson.

Four of the House of David players treated the fans to some novel entertainment in the sixth inning with their famous pepper play. It went over big.

Friend and Gibbons led the Victoria hitters, each with two out of four.

Mrs. Bridget Potts, Resident For Forty-nine Years, Died Yesterday

Mrs. Potts was born in Kilkenny, Ireland, and came to Victoria forty-nine years ago from Buckingham, Que. She had resided in Esquimalt ever since.

She is survived by one son, A. J. Potts, one niece, Mrs. J. A. Simpson, and several nephews and nieces in Eastern Canada.

New Left Wing Move In France

Red Bloc Formed; Herriot and Pfeiffer Quit as Radical Socialist Officers

Paris, July 4. — Charging Radical Socialism had failed in its mission by linking themselves with the Communists and Socialists—particularly in agreeing to march behind the red flag on Bastille Day, July 14—Edouard Pfeiffer, vice-president of the powerful French Radical and Radical Socialist Party, resigned to-day.

His resignation followed announcement made yesterday evening by Edouard Herriot, president of the Radical Socialist and Minister of States in the Laval Cabinet, that he would not accept re-election at the end of his term of office in the party.

Mr. Pfeiffer in his letter of resignation severely criticized the party for having agreed to participate in the procession with the Marxists, who will be carrying the red flag.

Former Premier Herriot sounded a warning against the threat of extremist movements to republican government in France.

Urging the Radical Socialists to adhere to the party's former ideals and directives, the statesman declared in his message: "I am reaching the end of my second mandate as your president. I shall re-enter the ranks of the party, and shall continue to serve the party I have fought for all my political life."

IS LAID TO REST

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Father Wood of Our Lady Queen of Peace Church, Esquimalt, this morning for Joseph Simpson, who passed away yesterday at Colquhoun in his fifty-third year. Interment was in Rose Bay Cemetery.

Mr. Simpson was born in New Brunswick and had been a resident of this province for the last eight years.

SHIP'S CREW HEARING ENDS

One of Ten Charged With Disobeying Orders Dismissed; Judgment Friday

J. C. Davidson, one of the ten members of the crew of the Southholm, was dismissed by Magistrate Jay in Provincial Court this morning from the charge of combining to disobey lawful command of superior officers while the ship was loading cargo at the Empire Cannery wharf on June 17. Davidson was on sick leave when the men left the ship after being logged by the captain, and the magistrate did not think he could be held guilty of being a party to any combination among the men.

Judgment on the remainder of the crew will be given to-morrow morning at 10.30 o'clock, after which the charge against Patrick Driscoll of inciting the men to strike will proceed.

The hearing was concluded early this afternoon after two more defence witnesses were heard and A. J. Patton, defence counsel, and Sgt. Richard Harvey for the prosecution, had submitted their arguments. Harry J. Davis appeared for the captain.

Christian Morthe, Vancouver, was the ninth member of the ship's crew to be called by the defence, and took the stand when the case opened this morning. He testified he signed on the second set of ship's articles on May 26. The articles showed he signed on May 17.

He was a winch man, and was loading on June 17 at the Empire Cannery Wharf. He had signed on the ship with the understanding he would be back in Vancouver in about twelve days, and he had stopped working on the ship because he was discontented with the men because they wanted to get back to Vancouver.

To Sgt. Harvey he said the crew thought they would return to Vancouver after going to Tacoma, prior to coming to Victoria. As long as he had been on the ship it had called at Vancouver every ten days, and he did not want to be away from home longer than that.

He admitted he had quit after the lunch hour without complaining to any of the ship's officers. With the other men witness said he had told the chief officer they were going to quit. He did not know under the condition of the articles that he could not leave without permission, he testified.

NEVER HEARD STATEMENT

When the crew was in the saloon witness said Baxter had asked the captain to read the articles of the ship. The request had been refused. Morten testified. He said he had not heard the alleged statement read to the men.

Henry Child, Vancouver, who was engaged in stowing the cargo in the hold on June 17, testified he had been taken aboard the Southholm on the understanding he was to go abroad for one trip and then he was to be replaced under a "stagger" system which the company was operating.

Since being employed in May he had not been back to Vancouver, and on June 17 he had refused to work because he wanted to go ashore and return to Vancouver. Just as he was about to go and inform the officers of his intentions the captain had called him into the saloon with the others, Child testified.

DID NOT COMBINE

Witness admitted in cross-examination he had quit work and in doing so he had disobeyed orders of his superior officers. He said he had not taken part in any combine to disobey commanders.

Mr. Patton submitted the log placed in as an exhibit was not properly kept and if not signed by the men could not be used against them. The men, he said, had not agreed to the logged statements.

He argued the prosecution failed on the face of the fact that the log was improperly kept.

He reviewed the evidence of the individual members of the crew. There was no evidence of a combine and all men had understood they could leave on forty-eight hours' notice or in forfeiture of forty-eight hours' pay.

The captain had not taken them into Vancouver because he presumed they would join the waterfront strike. The fact that the men had worked after lunch indicated they had not listened to Driscoll, who had spoken to them during the lunch hour.

HAVE RIGHT TO QUIT

The men had the right to quit, Mr. Patton argued, and when they saw stores being loaded aboard they had realized they must leave or the ship would sail.

The Southholm was a foreign-going ship and not a coastal vessel and the law required that the men should be signed in the articles before going aboard the ship. Permission in this case could not be given to sign at sea, he contended. "The law of the sea is altogether different to the law of the land," Mr. Patton said.

He alluded to B.C. law dealing with trade unions which gave Driscoll the right to be at the ship.

BIG EXCURSION FROM SEATTLE

Over 1,100 Independence Day excursionists arrived in the city by the Ss. Princess Kathleen at 12.45 o'clock this afternoon from Seattle. The excursionists are spending over four hours here, the Ss. Princess Margaret being held until 5.30 o'clock to accommodate them for the return trip to Seattle.

Stamford, Texas, July 4.—To the Editor of The Times:—Cowboy sports and contests are about the most popular thing there is, especially where they know what it's all about. I had often heard of the great time this little city holds every year. It's called a cowboy nation and it's put on by real ranch hands. This is the heart of the old Texas ranch country. The outfit send in their chuck wagons and they have a great time. Lots of good horses and lots of good ropers. Grass is high and cattle are around, and everybody's feeling fine. If Mr. Brisbane don't want to use his old slogan any more I will take "Don't sell America short."

Yours,
Will Rogers

First Celona Appeal Near End

There were indications this afternoon that the first Celona appeal, which has been on here before four sitting justices of the Court of Appeal for more than a week, was nearing a close. With its close, the court to-morrow will have its attention turned to the second appeal. In both appeals Joe Celona, with Stuart Henderson and A. E. Branca, as his counsel, is fighting against the twenty-one-year jail sentence imposed on him in Vancouver on a series of white slavery charges.

Dugald Donaghy, K.C., who with E. A. Dickie is handling the prosecution case, concluded just before luncheon recess his major argument in reply to the case put forward by Mr. Henderson last week.

UNABLE TO GIVE MILK

Friendly Help Welfare Association No Longer Able to Provide Supply

Members of the City Council health committee to-day viewed with some misgivings the announcement by the Friendly Help Welfare Association it would be unable to furnish milk to relief cases needing that commodity.

Lack of funds was given by the association as the reason for discontinuing the milk service.

As near as could be ascertained, forty-eight cases, including in some cases families with under-nourished children, have been receiving milk from the Friendly Help Welfare Association on the recommendation of the city health department.

While the actual cost of the milk could not be determined, it was believed it would run considerably over $100 a month.

STOPS TO-DAV

Civic officials, informed two days ago of the association's inability to provide milk to-day on, were expecting the matter to be taken up by the relief and health committee in the near future. It was understood the relief department would handle the cases until a meeting is held.

If the association can no longer provide assistance, it is believed the city will have to assume the responsibility for children and mothers needing milk.

The matter will probably be discussed at a special meeting of the health committee on Saturday morning when the city group will also consider recent survey made of garbage disposal with a view to improving the condition of local beaches.

During the first two days of the month $10,324 have come in through the prepaid medium, swelling the grand total to date to $520,000.

The total tax levy for 1935 is approximately $1,683,000.

CHANCE TO SEE ISLAND BETTER

E. & N. Excursions July 19 and 20 Will Reveal Many Little Known Beauty Spots

Victorians and other island residents will have an excellent opportunity shortly of getting better acquainted with parts of the island other than their own and with many beauty spots not known to the ordinary automobile traveler.

The Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway will repeat its highly successful bargain excursion rate experiment of last month, with going dates from any point on the line on Friday and Saturday, July 19 and 20, and with return available at any time until Tuesday, July 23.

The excursion will permit Victorians to spend two or three days in such places as the Forbidden Plateau for an exceptionally low cost. In addition they will have the opportunity of seeing many beautiful island scenes which are visible from the railway tracks and not from the road lower down, notably on the wonderful scenic section between Cameron Lake and Port Alberni, where the railway line overlooks the top of the Cathedral Grove.

Children under twelve years of age will be carried at half-fare, the company announces.

E. & N. trains leave Victoria daily, except Sundays, at 10.25 a.m. and arrive here at 5 p.m.

WANT TO GO TO OTTAWA

Relief Strikers at Winnipeg Wish to Have Requests Heard

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, July 4.—A rift in the trouble-clouded strike of Manitoba unemployed relief camp workers appeared to-day in the announcement by Fred Donner, member of the Relief Camp Strikers Supporting Conference, that the campers would press for the right to march to Ottawa and lay their grievances before members of the federal government.

Strike leaders reiterated the six demands laid before Premier R. B. Bennett by eight delegates representing British Columbia and Alberta relief camp strikers on June 22, were still the goal sought by the men. At a mass meeting held on the grounds surrounding the Manitoba Legislative Buildings yesterday evening, leaders petitioned the government to withdraw police interference.

Police on duty

All important issues which led campers in British Columbia, along with those in Alberta and Saskatchewan, to start a march on Ottawa, were touched on by speakers during the meeting. Police patrolled corridors of the government buildings, but made no move to interfere with the crowd of more than 4,000 that covered the wide stretches of lawn.

A resolution, to which a call was made for signatures, urged the government to rescind the order-in-council with respect to police blockades and aid to strikers by citizens.

Determination of the strikers to press on to Ottawa was voiced by Harry Binder, member of the Strikers' Executive Committee. The camp workers refused to return to the slave camps, he declared. "The fight for adjustment of camp conditions, will not be stopped by bullets or machine guns."

TIM BUCK SPEAKS

Tim Buck, leader of the Communist Party in Canada, attended the meeting and spoke briefly. The meeting of protest, he said, was a perfect reply to the action of police at Regina, he said. "The riot has awakened the working class the country over."

A large delegation representing the Women's Labor League attended the meeting. Children and baby carriages formed a part of the procession from Market Square to Broadway, where the meeting was held. Dozens of banners were carried with inscriptions such as "no military control of camps."

The children who appear on Big Brother Al's radio programme will be taken on a trolley drive through the city on Friday, July 12.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—Before marrying twelve years ago I had about ten years of bachelorhood, during which time certain habits of freedom and self-determination became pretty well fastened. The restrictions upon these which came with wedded life were at first hard to take, but I finally accepted them as inevitable. During recent years, however, my work has taken me abroad so that I am away from home for months at a time. These seasons of living my life as I wish, particularly the control of my rooming conditions and being able to have my clothes and belongings about me as I wish, have been so pleasant that it has set me to wondering why a measure of this comfort might not be feasible for a man in his own home. Consequently, I have suggested certain changes in our home to my wife, to which she objects for no reason that I can see, except that it interferes with her supreme authority. She still rules the home with a rod of iron and makes me feel like a boy who has assumed the schoolmistress. I don't know what will come of it, but hope for some satisfactory solution. T.M.C.

Answer—"Hope springs eternal in the human heart," the poet says, and you exhibit an inspiring optimism in cherishing the thought that your wife can be brought to see that a man should have for his own use and behoof some small part of the establishment he supports.

I fear, alas, that you are doomed to disappointment, for however reasonable and even generous a woman may be about other matters, she is wedded to the conviction that she has a monopoly of the home and that the husband is a mere intruder therein. Sometimes, if she is an exceedingly broad-minded woman, she is willing to make some concessions as to the food, and will set upon her table the viands for which he has a particular preference, cooked in the way his mother used to prepare them. This is not always the case, however, as is proved by a divorce case which has recently been tried, in which the husband's grievance was that whereas he craved coffee for breakfast of a morning, his wife had forced him for thirty years to drink nothing but milk.

This is not uncommon conduct on the part of wives, and as a general thing the husband has to eat the things that his wife considers good for his stomach, and generally adjust himself to the style of cooking in which she rears. Sometimes this puts a great strain on a man's affection, particularly if he has been brought up in an atmosphere of thick steaks and rare roasts and highly seasoned food. One young husband who was indiscreet enough to marry a vegetarian because she was young and beautiful confessed to me, with tears in his eyes, that he was so fed up with greens that his upper lip trembled like a rabbit's whenever he looked at a leaf of lettuce.

Wives are always asking how they can hold their husbands and keep them in their own homes, and I think that your letter affords a new and workable plan for solving this difficult problem. Moreover, it is a suggestion from the masculine point of view and it is one that wives have not tried, and that is giving a man a room of his own.

I mean his very own. A room he can paper as he pleases, furnish according to his taste and his idea of comfort, decorate as he chooses, and in which he can assemble all of the junk that he has gathered together and for which he has such an incomprehensible affection. And let no woman ever cross his threshold, not even to clean it up. Probably no wife will ever rise to the heights of doing this. Even if she is just enough to concede him a room of his own, she will pay herself for her nobility by fixing him up a den according to her own ideas and without any reference to his.

I believe that most husbands would be almost tearfully grateful for a room of their own, to which they could retire when feminine chatter began to get on their nerves and they felt that the children's quarrels would drive them to drink. For deep down within all of us there is a desire for some little spot that we can call our own, that belongs exclusively to us, where we can surround ourselves with our little gods that no alien hand ever touches, and where we can rest and invite our souls. Few men ever possess this luxury. DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—I have been married a year and a half to the best man in the world. He has a mother and a grown sister. We have lived with them and supported them. My husband and I both work hard every day while they run around and have a big time. Don't you think it is up to them to get out and look for a job and give us a break? We want to go to ourselves, I don't believe in helping those who do not help themselves. WORRIED.

Answer—Nor do I. If a mother is old and helpless it is certainly a son's duty to support her, but if she is middle-aged or youngish, and able-bodied, there is no reason in the world for her to festoon herself like a millstone around her married son's neck. She should get out and look for a job. So should his sister. She should be ashamed of being a parasite. DOROTHY DIX.

Uncle Wiggily's Boat Trip

By HOWARD E. GARRIS

Uncle Wiggily loved to be peaceful and quiet. Even with cotton from the milkweed plant in his hair, he would not hear the noise of Fourth of July. The jolly old rattler couldn't stand as peaceful and quiet as he did on other days of the year.

So, when time was time, on the Fourth, for much noise to be made by the animal children, Uncle Wiggily, after seeing that everything was well started, said to himself:

"I'm going off on a trip. I'll be back by night when it's time for the fireworks. Hopping into the bungalow kitchen he got some carrots, lettuce and cabbage out of the ice box and put them in a paper bag.

"There are you going, Wiggily?" his wife asked him.

"Out to look for a quiet adventure," he answered.

"Well, you are taking so much to eat that it seems as if you might be gone a long time," said the rabbit lady.

BOAT RIDE

"I'm only taking a little lunch," Mr. Longears answered. "I'll be back to supper. I'll take a little boat ride on the brook. It will be peaceful and quiet where the brook runs through the woods. I'll go for a boat ride."

"But if you take your motor boat out all the children will see you and want to come riding with you," said Nurse Jane.

"And while I know you love children, how do you have peace and quiet with a boat load of them with you?"

"That's so, I can't," Mr. Longears answered. "But I would like to go Fourth of July boat riding. Ha! I know what I can do!"

"What?" asked Nurse Jane.

"I'll take one of your washtubs for a boat," said Uncle Wiggily. "You won't be needing it until next Monday. I'll take one of your washtubs, Jane. I'll get it out of the laundry and carry it to the brook. The tub will be my boat. And I can put it over my head as I walk along toward the brook and none of the children will see me."

"That's a very good idea," said Mrs. Longears.

So while the bunny rabbit children were playing at their Fourth of July fun Uncle Wiggily went down cellar and got one of Nurse Jane's big wooden washtubs. He put it over his head like an umbrella and walked toward the brook with it.

For a moment, as he walked in sight of the brook, he saw the children. They were playing with blown-up paper bags for firecrackers. Uncle Wiggily thought he was going to be caught. But he didn't look at the tub and said:

"Oh, look! One of Nurse Jane's washtubs is being used for a boat!"

It was Uncle Wiggily's tub that was over his head. "What a funny walking tub I'm going to see about it!" said the orphan rabbit.

But just as she was going to run and perhaps discover Mr. Longears under the tub, Nurse Jane burst two paper bags with such loud noises that Baby Bunty was surprised. And when she ran over being surprised Uncle Wiggily had run behind some bushes and so on to the brook with his tub boat without being caught. Then Bunty forgot about what she had seen and went on playing with the other rabbits.

That was a narrow escape, thought Mr. Longears. He put his tub boat in the water and went sailing down the brook. He had a lovely, quiet, peaceful time and soon the Fourth of July was over.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

FRIDAY, JULY 5, 1935.

Adverse planetary aspects rule strongly today, according to astrology. It is a day through which to watch one's car, especially financially.

There is a sign read as presaging many accidents where machinery is concerned, but there is no cause for all who take difficulties may hamper industry in many places.

There is to be a growing feeling of confidence among many while a few will spread pessimistic views as the summer advances. Bitter criticisms and criticisms are to be disseminated.

The evening of this day is unfavorable for public meetings at which labor troubles are discussed. Panaceas for financial difficulties continue to be presented and numerous committees will develop among politicians and those who have ambitions to share public funds.

Warfare in the Far East has been propounded by English astrologers and there is some probability of European disturbances in which airplanes will play a conspicuous role.

Increase of armaments will be amazing by the early autumn, it is forecast, but they will be used in trouble from an unexpected source.

Women are well protected under this way as long as they seek no adventure, but there are few causes for all who take unnecessary risks.

Persons whose birthdays it is have the augury of a year of test, for many troubles are indicated. For those who are usually have great courage and independence.

David Glasgow Farragut, admiral, was born on this day, 181. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Lawrence Oliver, author and critic, 1878, and Phineas T. Barnum, showman, 1816.
